Senate Cloture Move Expected Later In Week

Round-Clock Grind Resumes Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) called Sunday for an effort soon to break up the anticivil rights filibuster in the Senate.

"There're wearing us out," he said.

Douglas told a nationwide TV audience on the NBC program, "College News Conference" that a determined filibuster cannot be broken by the round-the-clock Senate sessions that were tried all last week and are due to be resumed Monday after a Sunday recess.

He said a move should be made within two or three days to invoke cloture, the seldom-used Senate rule fixing a time limit on debate. He conceded that getting the two-thirds majority vote needed will be difficult but added: "I think we have a very good chance to win."

Douglas is one of a group of self-styled liberals in both parties pressing for what they consider a stronger bill than the Eisenhower administration sponsored.

He said the bill should be strengthened in three ways:

1. More adequate provision for protecting voting rights,
2. Empowering the attorney general to act on other civil rights under the equal rights provision of the 14th Amendment.
3. Technical and financial assistance in integration where it is attempted but prevented by state action.

Southern Congress members sought wide circulation of a critical analysis of the administration's proposal for court-appointed voting referees.

Rep. Edwin E. Willis (D-La.), who made the analysis, called the plan a "sure breeder of racial troubles of untold proportions."

Willis, a member of the House Judiciary Committee, also called the proposal "utterly unconstitutional" and said it could lead to filling the federal jails with "political prisoners" consisting of state officials.

Just how far short the civil rights advocates are of mustering the necessary vote two-thirds majority for cloture was a matter of conjecture.

Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) said on a television program taped with Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.) for Pennsylvania stations that if all senators voted at this time cloture would fail by a margin of 10.

Young Drifter Says He Slew 6 In Crime Spree

MIAMI (UPI)—Police said Sunday that a confessed slayer of three persons during a South Florida crime spree has admitted additional killings in California and Arizona.

Sheriff Tom Kelly said that red-haired Dennis Whitney, 17, told officers that he shot one man in Victorville, Calif., another in Tucson, Ariz., and a third man in Phoenix, Ariz., during his trip from California to Florida.

Whitney already had confessed to the slayings of two service station attendants in Miami and a woman at Jupiter, Fla. He was tracked down by a posse at Jupiter Saturday after a terrified teen-ager's report of a prowler who washed blood from his hands at her house.

Police said the youth admitted killing James Ryan, 28-year-old father of four, at a Victorville, Calif., service station, on Feb. 12. Victorville officers said the slayer apparently laid in wait for Ryan in the station rest room. Next, according to police, Whitney killed Spencer Frazier, 35-year-old Negro who offered the youth shelter in his cabin at Phoenix, Ariz., around Feb. 16. The killer took $10 from Frazier along with his car.

Officers said Whitney drove the stolen car to Tucson, Ariz., where he killed Glen Smith, 27, an attendant at a Texaco service station, on Feb. 21. Police said some $85 was missing from the station cash drawer.

All three of the western victims were slain by a single bullet in the head, police said. Whitney arrived in Miami on Feb. 23 and registered at an inexpensive hotel, paying $15 in advance. That marked the beginning of a series of automobile thefts and killings in south Florida.

Earlier Sunday, Whitney confessed to his third murder in South Florida, and a critically wounded robbery victim identified the youth as his attacker.

Service station attendant Jack Beecher, shot four times in a holdup, picked Whitney out of a lineup of five red-headed men in Beecher's hospital room. And city of Miami police said Whitney, when faced with a lie detector test, admitted the slaying of Ken Mezzarano, 21, another service station attendant.

Whitney also confessed killing Virginia Selby, of Jupiter, a stubborn 60-year-old woman who had not wanted him to steal her car, and Arthur Keeler, 53, Miami service station attendant.

Ike Will Give Tour Report Tomorrow

President Will Be On Radio-TV; Flies Back To D.C. Today

RAMEY AIR FORCE BASE, Puerto Rico (AP)—President Eisenhower will make a radio-television report to the nation Tuesday night on his Latin-American tour.

White House secretary James C. Hagerty announced this Sunday after the President, his hoarseness almost gone and his step bouncy, played 18 holes of golf.

The President will close out his two-week trip at noon EST, Monday and fly back to snowy Washington. The jet flight is expected to take about three hours. The President's plane will land at Andrews Air Force Base.

15-Minute Report

The 15-minute report on the 15,500-mile trip to four South American nations, Hagerty said, will be carried live at 7 p.m. Eastern Standard Time by the three major television networks, Columbia, American and Mutual radio networks, and probably NBC, also will carry it live, Hagerty said.

On the flight back to Washington, Eisenhower will be accompanied by Luis Ferre, the Republican candidate for governor of Puerto Rico.

Accompanied by his son, Maj. John Eisenhower, John's wife, Barbara, and the four grandchildren, the President flew the 60 miles to the Dorado Beach Hotel Golf course in a U.S. Air Force DC3 Sunday morning.

Family Picnic

There he played golf on the palm-studded course in 80-degree temperatures with a stiff breeze blowing off the ocean.

Hoarse since his arrival at Ramey last Thursday from his exacting tour, his voice was noticeably improved.

Eisenhower arrived at Dorado wearing a brown hat, tweed-pattern sport coat and slacks. In good humor, he agreed to a family picture.

Graham Shuns Islam Challenge

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham said Sunday he has refused to consider a challenge for a faith healing contest to test the powers of the Christian and Islamic religions.

The proposal was made two days ago by Sheikh Murbarak Ahmad, chief of the East African Moslem mission of Ahmadiyya, an aggressive missionary society.

He suggested 30 incurables be selected and that Graham and six of his followers pray over 15 while the Sheikh and six followers prayed for the recovery of the other 15.

The result, the Sheikh said, would determine "who is blessed with the Lord's grace and mercy and upon whom His door remains closed."

In his first public comment on the challenge, Graham said he had discussed the challenge with prominent members of the Nairobi Moslem community.

"I have talked with several Moslem leaders who inform me that Ahmadiyya is a group which does not represent responsible Moslem thought," the evangelist said in an interview. "Christ was once challenged by Satan to perform a spectacular feat in order to prove His deity. He answered by saying, 'Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.'"

Police Prevent Racial Clash At Ala. Capitol

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A scheduled Negro mass meeting almost provoked a racial clash Sunday, but an armed guard of more than 500 officers broke it up.

The Negroes, who had planned a mass prayer meeting on the State Capitol steps, congregated instead at a church one block away.

They had been called to the prayer meeting to support Negro college students whose recent demonstrations against segregation brought the expulsion of nine campus leaders and the promise of nearly 1,000 other students to boycott Alabama State College.

City, county and state police surrounded the Capitol with orders to break up any attempted mass meeting. While they waited for the Negroes to appear, a surly crowd of white persons gathered nearby.

As the Negroes started to leave the Dexter Avenue Baptist church, nearly an hour after the scheduled time for the mass meeting, the white crowd surged forward through police lines and started for the church.

Officers, armed with clubs in addition to their service pistols, and city firemen standing by with fire hoses ready to drench the crowd managed to push the Negroes back onto the church property and break up the white demonstration.

Negro Students March In D.C.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nearly 300 Negro college students picketed the White House Sunday in support of civil rights legislation and Negro sit-down strikes against segregated restaurants in the South.

Laurence Henry, a Howard University divinity student and a leader of the group, emphasized the students, many of whom picketed the Capitol last week, were not anti-white.

A small band of Washington police were on hand to maintain order, but no violence was reported. Henry and Arthur Clement, a Howard University law student, asked police before the march began to "quiet down any disorderly person."

The group disbanded shortly before 6 p.m. after several minutes of silent prayer.

Plane Wreckage Found

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The wreckage of a World War II plane has been discovered in shallow lake Neusiedlersee, about 35 miles east of here, police reported Sunday. They are investigating to determine its nationality. A large unexploded bomb lies in the area of the wreck.

Public Warned Against Crooked Tax Consultants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service Sunday cautioned taxpayers to watch out for crooked tax consultants.

The agency noted it has obtained criminal fraud convictions of tax advisers in several states in recent months.

One consultant was sentenced to 31 years imprisonment for listing fraudulent deductions on clients' tax returns and then stealing their refund checks.

IRS said this was one of the longest prison sentences ever imposed in a tax fraud case.

Another tax adviser was convicted after getting clients to pay him amounts which he claimed they owed the government. He kept the money without even filing their returns.

IRS said its warning is "intended in no way to disparage the services rendered by competent and ethical practitioners, or the valuable assistance rendered by company cashiers, bookkeepers and auditors, or others such as bank personnel, who help their employees or customers in tax matters."

Suspended Indonesia Parliament To Meet

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A closed meeting of Parliament members was called Sunday following President Sukarno's dramatic suspension of Parliament on the grounds it is "endangering the unity of the republic."

The session was called for Monday by the speaker, R. M. Sartono, in an announcement over the state-owned radio.

Its purpose, presumably will be to notify members officially of Sukarno's decree and to outline the government's proposals for a new legislature.

Most Indonesian politicians have been reluctant to comment on the suspension Saturday. A reliable report said military authorities have warned them to refrain from criticism.

Contraceptive Pill Tests To Get Parliament Airing

LONDON (AP) — Family planning schemes in Britain involving contraceptive pills headed for a parliamentary airing Sunday following sharp criticism by a Roman Catholic churchman.

Sydney Irving, Labor party member of Parliament, said he plans to ask the minister of health in Parliament Monday if experiments planned in this country with the pills are safe.

Irving, 42, a former schoolmaster and father of three children, explained: "I want to put the question because I think the time has come when the public should be reassured about these tests. Some doctors have referred to side effects that can be caused by these pills, such as dizziness and nausea."

Irving said he is not a Roman Catholic and has no religious objection to the pills — "just want to be sure they are safe."

Massive Cold Wave Shatters More Records

By United Press International

A late winter cold wave broke low temperature records for the second straight day in at least 12 states Sunday.

An Arctic air mass settled in the nation's middle section from the Plains States to the Ohio Valley, bringing below freezing weather to the entire area. Frigid weather knifed south into Northern Florida.

The cold wave set low records for the date Saturday through the same area, but the U.S. Weather Bureau at Chicago reported even more new marks Sunday.

The mercury plunged to 17 below zero at Davenport, Iowa, Sunday, a record for the date. However the lowest temperatures in the nation, 21 below at Grantsburg, Wis., and Bemidji, Minn., were not records.

In the South, a low for the date of 18 above zero hit Columbia, S.C. Other March 6 records were set at Jacksonville, Fla., 28 above; Mobile, Ala., 26 above; Vicksburg, Miss., 24 above; and Nashville, Tenn., 12 above.

Cold as it was, the weather threatened no new storms to the eastern half of the nation, hit by a succession of storms during a 6-day period ending Saturday that caused almost 200 deaths and damage in the millions of dollars.

Photographer Seized In Ship Blast Cleared

Freed After U.S., Cuban Relations Drop To New Low

HAVANA (AP) — Cuban authorities investigating Friday's munitions ship explosion Sunday freed an American who had been detained two days in connection with the disaster.

The release of Donald Chapman, 26, a free-lance photographer from North Bend, Neb., came after U.S.-Cuban relations had hit a new low over Prime Minister Fidel Castro's charge Saturday night that U.S. officials were to blame for the ship explosion.

Chapman was held incommunicado by Cuban military intelligence officials who questioned him about the blasts that ripped through the French freighter La Coubre and killed from 50 to 70 persons.

Cleared Of Suspicion

Upon releasing Chapman, Cuban officials said he was cleared of any suspicion.

Chapman, who reported he was on the ship's bridge at the time of the explosions, said he could not say if an act of sabotage was responsible for the blasts.

"I wouldn't know. I didn't have the slightest idea we had munitions aboard until we were well under way," he told newsmen.

Pro-Castro newspapers earlier had begun casting suspicion on the American. One had charged he might have been "the physical author" of the alleged sabotage plot.

Castro personally interrogated Chapman Saturday before going on to a mass funeral for victims of the disaster. The Prime Minister made his anti-U.S. charges in a graveside funeral oration.

Chapman was the only passenger aboard the ship on its voyage from Antwerp with a load of Belgian munitions.

U.S. To Denounce Charge

Diplomats here said Castro's anti-U.S. speech Saturday night might upset Washington's policy of patience with Cuba. Official sources said Daniel M. Braddock, soft-spoken U.S. charge d'affaires here, will deliver Monday a vigorous denial of Castro's charge.

Braddock also was expected to protest the detention of Chapman and the refusal to let U.S. Embassy officials contact him.

Various diplomats who heard Castro's charges said they could see nothing but trouble ahead in U.S.-Cuban relations. They were struck by Castro's statement that U.S. officials had failed to halt arms shipments by diplomatic means "and we have a right to believe they could have tried to prevent it by other means." The United States now embargoes all arms shipments to Cuba.

King Tours City Razed By Quake

AGADIR, Morocco (AP)—King Mohammed V led members of the diplomatic corps on a three-hour tour Sunday of this earthquake-devastated city where upwards of 12,000 died.

The King's party, accompanied by 60 newsmen, drove past areas and acres of rubble in the Moroccan and European quarters.

The city has been evacuated except for police, troops and sanitary squads.

Accompanied by Premier Abdullah Ibrahim and cabinet members, the King visited a refugee camp set up outside the city in an ancient olive grove. About 4,000 people are living there in American-supplied tents.

Another camp for 2,000 refugees is being erected. U.S. Navy and Air Force planes are bringing in tents, blankets and bedding.

Senate Cloture
Move Expected
Later In Week

Round-Clock Grind Resumes Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) called Sunday for an effort soon to break up the anticivil rights filibuster in the Senate.

"There's wearing us out," he said.

Douglas told a nationwide TV audience on the NBC program, "College News Conference" that a determined filibuster cannot be broken by the round-the-clock Senate sessions that were tried all last week and are due to be resumed Monday after a Sunday recess.

He said a move should be made within two or three days to invoke cloture, the seldom-used Senate rule fixing a time limit on debate. He conceded that getting the two-thirds majority vote needed will be difficult but added: "I think we have a very good chance to win."

Douglas is one of a group of self-styled liberals in both parties pressing for what they consider a stronger bill than the Eisenhower administration sponsored.

He said the bill should be strengthened in three ways:

1. More adequate provision for protecting voting rights,

2. Empowering the attorney general to act on other civil rights under the equal rights provision of the 14th Amendment.

3. Technical and financial assistance in integration where it is attempted but prevented by state action.

Southern Congress members sought wide circulation of a critical analysis of the administration's proposal for court-appointed voting referees.

Rep. Edwin E. Willis (D-La.), who made the analysis, called the plan a "sure breeder of racial troubles of untold proportions."

Willis, a member of the House Judiciary Committee, also called the proposal "utterly unconstitutional" and said it could lead to filling the federal jails with "political prisoners" consisting of state officials.

Contraceptive Pill Tests
To Get Parliament Airing

LONDON (AP)—Family planning schemes in Britain involving contraceptive pills headed for a parliamentary airing Sunday following sharp criticism by a Roman Catholic laborman.

Sydney Irving, Church party member of Parliament, said he plans to ask the minister of health in Parliament Monday if experiments planned in this country with the pills are safe.

Irving, 42, a former schoolmaster and father of three children, explained: "I want to put the question because I think the time has come when the public should be reassured about these tests. Some doctors have referred to side effects that can be caused by these pills, such as dizziness and nausea."

Irving said he is not a Roman Catholic and has no religious objection to the pills — "just want to be sure they are safe."

The Most Rev. Edward Ellis, Roman Catholic bishop of Nottingham, described the pills as an "attack on the sanctity of marriage." In a Lenten pastoral letter read in all churches in his diocese, the bishop said: "The Church does not demand that parents should have the largest family possible."

"But... restrictions should never be brought about by artificial means, including the latest invention of contraceptive pills."

The outcry followed recent announcements that tests are to be carried out on married women volunteers with an American pill and a newly discovered British pill, both of which can be taken like aspirin.

Diplomats here said Castro's anti-U.S. speech Saturday night might upset Washington's policy of patience with Cuba. Official sources said Daniel M. Braddock, soft-spoken U.S. charge d'affaires here, will deliver Monday a vigorous denial of Castro's charge.

Braddock also was expected to protest the detention of Chapman and the refusal to let U.S. Embassy officials contact him.

Various diplomats who heard Castro's charges said they could see nothing but trouble ahead in U.S.-Cuban relations. They were struck by Castro's statement that U.S. officials had failed to halt arms shipments by diplomatic means "and we have a right to believe they could have tried to prevent it by other means." The United States now embargoes all arms shipments to Cuba.

King Tours City
Razed By Quake

AGADIR, Morocco (AP)—King Mohammed V led members of the diplomatic corps on a three-hour tour Sunday of this earthquake-devastated city where upwards of 12,000 died.

The King's party, accompanied by 60 newsmen, drove past acres and acres of rubble in the Moroccan and European quarters.

The city has been evacuated except for police, troops and sanitary squads.

Accompanied by Premier Abdullah Ibrahim and cabinet members, the King visited a refugee camp set up outside the city in an ancient olive grove. About 4,000 people are living there in American-supplied tents.

Another camp for 2,000 refugees is being erected. U.S. Navy and Air Force planes are bringing in tents, blankets and bedding.

Alarm, Doubts
Over U.S. Policy
Sweep Britain

By JOHN GALE

LONDON (AP)—Britain was confused and divided Sunday over American foreign policy within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and particularly toward Germany. One widely published opinion was that British-American relations were at their lowest ebb in decades.

Deep-rooted fears that the United States may be planning to build up West Germany as Europe's major military power came to a head in a flurry of agitated newspaper articles.

Doubt and alarm were expressed about the decision of the State Department, later modified, to renew its right to send high-level air flights into West Berlin. There were fears the action, deemed provocative by the Soviet Union, had already wrecked chances of success for the May summit meeting in Paris.

There also was renewed and bitter press criticism of the role played by Britain within NATO and indignant demands that this country shake loose from the satellite rating seemingly imposed upon it by U.S. State Department decisions.

"It seems to me," wrote former Laborite Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell in a typical opinion, "that the American government has now made up its mind to make Germany the strongest military power in Europe outside the Soviet Union."

Writing in the Conservative Sunday Express, Shinwell pointed out that, "Germany is stronger in manpower than any NATO country with the sole exception of America."

Shinwell concluded, in an opinion widely echoed in other newspapers, that British-American relations had reached "the lowest ebb in decades."

Zoologist Convinced Man
Descended From Sea Ape

BRIGHTON, England (AP)—An Oxford zoologist says 30 years of research have convinced him man is descended directly from a hairless ape who lived in the sea.

Sir Alister Hardy outlined his theory on man's origin Saturday at a conference of marine scientists in Brighton.

At one point in the dawn of history, he said, some land-based apes took to the sea in search of food. This creature's life in shallow offshore waters accounts for the differences in body shape between humans and apes now, the 64-year-old professor said.

"Many apes," he said, "were driven to hunt in the sea by fierce competition for food in the forests. At first they waded and groped in the water but gradually learned how to swim."

His report continued: "Over a period of several hundred thousand years, the species lost its hair as it carried on its marine life. The only hair left was on the very top of the head to help protect the creature from the sun."

"The sea ape learned to stand upright because water helped support the body. It developed longer legs than its land-based brother ape for swimming."

"Its hands became sensitively shaped to allow it to feel along the sea bed for shell fish and open crabs. It learned the use of tools by picking up stones to crack open sea urchins. It would be only a step for man to discover that flints chipped into sharper and more useful tools, knives and arrows."

"Then, armed with such equipment and his erect posture, he was all set for the chase. He could now reconquer the continents, running and hunting the animals of the plains."

Eastern Shore Digs Out In Wake Of Snowstorm

Army Helicopters Used In Rescue Work

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Maryland battled its way 30 miles through the drifts. It took 2 1/2 hours to get stirring Sunday after three days of isolation by their worst snowstorm of winter.

Most state roads were open, although one-way in some places, sections of the county. Mrs. Sidney but many county roads were still blocked by snow drifted four and five feet deep. Winds died out for night. Mrs. Booker Evans, driven the first time since the storm hit to town by State Trooper William three days ago, dropping eight to 10 inches of snow and isolating smaller communities and farm-factory condition and had not delivered.

Statewide, the weather had claimed 14 lives.

Army helicopter crews from Ft. Meade served as angels of mercy for the snowbound Saturday, rescuing some people and delivering medicine to others.

One woman suffering from a heart ailment, Mrs. Mamie Todd of Toddville in southern Dorchester County, didn't want to come to Cambridge-Maryland Hospital here by helicopter Saturday night.

Pastor Fails To Halt 800 Bridge Players

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Eight hundred persons at 200 bridge tables went on playing bridge here Sunday after a preacher demanded that police stop them.

A man who identified himself as the Rev. Stuart McGregor told police that too many of his parishioners were playing in the Texas regional bridge tournament and he wanted it stopped.

The Rev. McGregor raised a point of Texas law covering card playing in public places. Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said he would look into the matter Monday—and returned to his own domino game.

The tournament at a downtown hotel ends Sunday.

Bridge tournament official Kenneth Stone of Dallas chortled. "Eight hundred people is a whale of a lot of people to run into jail."

Scientist Says Mars Canals Ice Cracks

MOSCOW (AP) — The mysterious canals on Mars, a Soviet scientist claimed Sunday, are actually deep cracks in the sheet of ice covering the planet's surface.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, quoted an astronomer identified as V. Davydov as saying internal heat on Mars causes the ice surface to crack.

"Sources of internal heat on Mars," he wrote in the youth newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda, "are thought to be similar to those on earth. Consequently, at a depth of about 500 meters below the surface, temperature conditions are such that the ice on top melts."

Jury Rehears Finch Accounts Of Wife's Death

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dr. R. Bernard Finch's accounts of shooting his wife to death are coming back to haunt—or help him and his mistress, Carole Tregoff.

The rich, sports-loving surgeon is hearing, along with the jurors who hold his life in their hands, his thousands of words about Barbara Jean Finch's shooting read aloud.

The jury suddenly asked, after deliberating several hours Saturday to hear once more everything the doctor said about last July 18—the day of the slaying—and the next morning.

Dr. Finch, 42, and the 23-year-old divorcee who once worked in his medical clinic are charged with murder and conspiracy to murder in the shooting of Mrs. Finch, 36, outside the Finch's exclusive home in suburban West Covina. He has maintained the shooting was an accident; the prosecution charges it was a murder plot inspired by money greed.

The rereading in open court to conform with California law, involves an estimated 400 pages of transcript containing 80,000 words—equal to a fair-sized novel.

The jurors asked to hear what Dr. Finch said under both direct questioning and cross-examination as well as in a statement to police July 20 at Las Vegas, Nev., after his arrest.

Another jury request—for a pistol and surgical gloves—was turned down by Judge Walter R. Evans because the items were not in evidence. The prosecutor says the defendants both wore gloves at the slaying scene; the defense says the gloves were used only for play with the Finch dog.

The jury took Sunday off. It got the case Friday but pondered only 90 minutes that day.

FBI Nabs Fugitive

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The FBI announced Sunday night that its agents in Los Angeles have arrested Ted Jacob Rinehart, a suspected jewel thief who was one of its 10 most wanted fugitives.

The FBI declined to discuss the details of its arrest of the 33-year-old Rinehart, who was placed on the fugitive list little more than a month ago. But it said that Rinehart readily admitted his identity.

N.H. Primary Grows Hotter

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP)—Paul C. Fisher demanded Sunday that the University of New Hampshire allow him to share a speaking platform with Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.).

The Chicago pen manufacturer served notice that no matter what the university decides to do, he will appear on the Durham campus Monday at the same time Kennedy does "and walk to your stage to demand my rights as a presidential candidate to equal time."

Fisher, who proposes abolition of taxes on incomes under $10,000 a year, is Kennedy's only rival in the Democratic preference poll section of New Hampshire's first in-the-nation presidential primary Tuesday.

His demand set the stage for what could be a dramatic climax to an otherwise dull primary campaign, during which Fisher has repeatedly challenged Kennedy to a series of debates.

There was no comment from Kennedy, stumping the state with a crowded campaign schedule that included an afternoon address at Dartmouth College in Hanover.

However, a Kennedy aide said the senator plans to deliver in Durham Monday afternoon a major address on disarmament, "one of the most important speeches of his career."

Ghana Becomes Republic With British Ties In July

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Ghana will become a republic in July of this year and will remain within the British Commonwealth. Premier Kwame Nkrumah said Sunday night.

In a statement prepared for broadcast, he told the people of Ghana he will formally announce his government's decisions at the Commonwealth premiers' conference in London in May.

Nkrumah also outlined proposals for a republican constitution for the new nation. It read in part:

"The constitution recognizes that ultimately, all powers of state come from the people, and it will be for the people, not the Constituent Assembly, to determine the form of constitution."

The draft proposes the actual head of the Ghanaian government after July 1 this year should be the president of the republic. He will be chosen in a way to make him at the same time leader of

The stage is set for America's greatest growth. By 1970, our population will top 205 million—an increase that could fill seven cities the size of Chicago.

Think what this means in terms of dwelling needs: 14 million new units to be built in the next ten years. This, in turn, calls for factories, machines, tools. All this growth requires dollars.

If we don't take steps now to stabilize the purchasing power of the dollar, we run the risk of another round of inflation with prices going still higher and purchasing power of paychecks dropping even lower.

There are two equally important ways of providing this growth money without inflation: individual savings... and prudent government spending.

And one can't do the job without the other.

Individual savings. Most of us regard our life insurance and other savings as a personal thing—something we do just for ourselves and our family's future. But our savings do much more. They help finance the homes, factories and services that a growing America must have. And because these dollars we save are dollars we don't spend now, they also help curb inflation and preserve the purchasing power of the dollar.

Prudent government spending. Of course, government must provide for many projects and services in the Sixties. But prudent government spending may require that some projects, however desirable, either have to be reduced or postponed... or taxes increased to pay for them. We can all help by letting our representatives know that we expect government to live within its income and thus help preserve the value of the dollar in this expansion.

Only with inflation under control, can we plan ahead and build ahead with confidence. Only then can we provide the new homes and all the goods and services we'll need without cheapening our dollars.

Brought to you in the interest of every American who is concerned with preserving the value of the dollar

Time Running Out For Entry In Md. Primary

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Time is running out for Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) and other potential candidates for Maryland's May 17 primary.

They must sign the official papers and pay the necessary filing fees at the secretary of state's office here before midnight Monday.

Morse announced several weeks ago he would enter Maryland's Democratic preferential primary in opposition to Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts. Kennedy filed Feb. 2 and dared other aspirants for president to join the race.

Morse, who owns a Montgomery County farm, was the only Democrat to accept the challenge. But he has yet to make it official.

With the deadline approaching, Republican Fife Symington announced in London during the weekend that he would cut short his European trip and fly back home in time to enter the GOP race for the 2nd District congressional seat.

The Baltimore Sun quoted Symington as saying he was informed by telephone that Republican organizations in the 2nd District counties of Carroll, Harford and Baltimore had endorsed his candidacy.

Symington tried for the seat two years ago and lost by more than 30,000 votes to Rep. Daniel B. Brewster, the incumbent Democrat who will seek renomination.

6.8% Of State Labor Force Idle Last Year

BALTIMORE (AP) — Unemployment in Maryland during the fiscal year ending last June 30 averaged 74,300, or 6.8 per cent of the labor force.

In its annual report to the governor, the Department of Employment Security said the number of jobless reached 8.3 per cent in January 1959 — the highest rate for a decade.

By the end of the period, non-agricultural wage and salary employment rose to 889,000 — more than 30,000 above June 1958 and the highest June level since 1956.

Jobless benefits paid during the fiscal year totaled $52,069,000, a 6 per cent increase over the previous record set in 1958.

The report said 39,405 persons, or 36.2 per cent of those receiving at least one benefit check, exhausted their full 26 weeks of eligibility.

During the year, 5,535 new overpayment cases totaling $221,140, were disclosed. The report said one-fourth of the cases were due to fraud.

Mexico Given Loan

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Prudential Life Insurance Co. of America has loaned the Mexican government 100 million dollars to be used as deemed necessary. The 15-year loan is the largest Mexico has accepted from a private source, officials say.

Satellites' Ionized Trails Used For Communication

Young Md. 'Ham' Participates In Tests

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Two teen-age amateur radio operators were disclosed by Massachusetts Institute of Technology Sunday to have conducted probably the world's first successful two-way communication with the aid of artificial satellites.

One is an MIT freshman, Rafael Soifer of New York. The other is Perry I. Klein, a senior at Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School in Maryland. He will enter MIT next fall.

They report that in the early morning of Feb. 6 they sent and received coded signals between their homes by bouncing the signals off the ionized trails left by satellites. At the time, America's Explorer VII and Russia's Sputnik III were in low orbit off the Atlantic Coast almost simultaneously—about 150 miles east of Atlantic City, N. J.

Contact was made on 21.011 megacycles frequency. Both sets were operating at about 300 watts power with no directional antennas. Total cost of their equipment, a little better than average, was slightly under $2,000.

Several other young 'hams' helped. Robert Lokerson, 18, and his brother, Donald, 21, of Chevy Chase, listened in at their home and tape-recorded the signals. Arthur Bickel, 17-year-old Syracuse University freshman, monitored the attempt at his Sackett's Harbor, N. Y., home but did not pick it up.

Soifer hopes many amateurs will want to try their hand at what he calls "HF satellite scatter." During many earlier tests, he and Klein said they had made one-way contacts. Their project dates back to the summer of 1958. Dr. Jerome B. Wiesner, director of the MIT Research Laboratory of Electronics, a leader in communications research and space technology, was one of several experts to read the preliminary report. He praised the "initiative and imagination" of the young men but warned against any sweeping conclusions.

He said he found no major technical fault in Soifer's paper but said more data is needed. The exact nature of the aid furnished by the satellites must be determined by further experiments.

Denmark and Finland are the two countries of the world which are the closest to being 100 per cent literate.

State Nears Windup Of Motherwell Case

DOWNEVILLE, Calif. (AP) — The prosecution plans to call five more witnesses before winding up its case against Larry Lord Motherwell, 42-year-old Washington, D.C., construction worker charged with murdering Mrs. Pearl Putney.

Sierra County Dist. Atty. Gordon I. Smith said the five will testify Monday concerning Motherwell's story that he never was in Marysville, Calif., before he registered there at a motel with Mrs. Putney, on Aug. 14, 1958.

The well-to-do Washington widow, 72, is not known to have been seen again after that. Bleached bones identified as hers through dental work were found a year and a day later in a mountain forest near here.

"Distinguished Faculty" Plan Adopted By U. Md.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — rewarded. We need to do more to attract good people and develop them.

The plan includes:

1. Special chairs for recognized scholars, which would be supported with $3,000 a year for 10 years. The money would supplement regular salaries.

2. Faculty fellowships, for which sponsors would be asked to contribute at least $5,000 a year for three years or $7,500 for at least two years.
3. Funds for special college or department programs, with scope of the project to decide the amount of money.

Called the "distinguished faculty program," it will concentrate the university's donations from alumni and other supporters on aid to gifted young professors and veteran scholars on campus.

Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president, announced the program Saturday. In explaining its purpose, Dr. R. Lee Hornbake, dean of faculty, said: "We are trying to create a feeling on campus that creative effort and scholarship are to be of money."

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Jean Simmons color. It is called "Angry mons leaves the middle of the Island" and it has its American month for Paris and London for premiere at our Vagabond Theatre. Cary Grant and Stanley Donen's "The Grass is Greener" is a story written by Greener, — based on a current Japanese newspaperman based London stage hit, Jean will leave on the plight of little boys left early enough so that she can go homeless by the war. He thinks to Paris first for her wardrobe, he has a real star in a 16-year-old. This is the first time she has to play Tetsu, who plays the dress up in many a picture, and lead and with whom Mac expects the first time she's played a light to make two more films, comedy role.

Cary Grant called me to give The man who contributed so me the news and said that his largely to the success of David Grando Company doesn't have Jan's "Richard Diamond" TV worry about the strike because the score which carried the mood "Grass is Greener" will be the of the series.

Now Pete has been signed by which has made peace with the Actors Guild. He's very delighted over the cast which includes Deborah Kerr, Robert Mitchum, an Jean Simmons, and, of course, the director of the new series, "The Grass is Greener" is filled with plenty of he and Betsy Drake had reconciled suspense, adventure and excitement. He said they still maintain separate living quarters, but see each other several times a week, and are closer than ever.

Everybody seems to be getting into the Japanese act. What with Steve Parker, Shirley MacLaine's husband, making a bundle with his Japanese revue at the New Frontier in Las Vegas, now enters Mac Krim. Kim Novak's ex-boyfriend, with his production. This is the first Japanese film made in CinemaScope and East-

A well deserved tribute to Mervyn LeRoy, the star figure on Ralph Edwards' show "This is Your Life," was the turnout of important stars gathered at Chas-Krim, Kim Novak's ex-boyfriend, with his production. This is the first Japanese film made in CinemaScope and East-

The Freeman Goddens, Janet Leigh, Tony Curtis, Bob Wagner, (Natalie Wood was working), Ann and Kirk Douglas, Jack Benny, Ernie Kovacs, Stephen Boyd and Elana Eden were among those toasting Mervyn earlier.

These guests, plus Colleen Moore, now Mrs. Homer Hargreaves of Chicago (how good it was to see her again), Greer Garson, Kitty Leroy with her daughter Rita, Mervyn's son Warner and his daughter Linda, Jack Warner and Eddie Robinson, all of whom took part in Mervyn's life story on TV, were at the dinner. It was such a wonderful, heart-warming occasion, and I was glad to be a part of it.

A new way of putting on a show was demonstrated by young Bobby Darn in Philadelphia a few nights ago. Bobby had been booked to open at the Latin Casino, but that is being re-built, so David Dushoff, owner of the night club, told Bobby if he would put on a one-night show at the Dushoff home, he would pay him what he would have earned at the casino.

So many of Bobby's fans turned out, however, that the two houses on either side of the Dushoff home were taken over, with speakers piped in for both Bobby and the orchestra. It was a big success, and something new, to say the

Unions' Power Begins To Ebb

Up against stagnation of growth and doubts about loyalties of some formerly friendly politicians, the leadership of organized U. S. labor has become pessimistic about its future. Organizable workers are far fewer than when labor started its great growth in the 1930s. And industrial automation is reducing the ranks of the organized in many areas.

Last year unions won fewer than 60 per cent of National Labor Relations Board elections for the first time. During the early years of NLRB operations unions won in 75 per cent of the cases.

All this indicates that organized labor probably has reached its peak in membership. The unorganized show little enthusiasm for joining up.

There is little consolation in politics for the leaders. Slow about taking action against corrupt unions until they grew too big to control, organized labor now is up against the Landrum-Griffin law, which was passed with the aid of most of the members of Congress who had been elected with union aid.

Labor leaders will go through the motions of taking sides in the Presidential campaign, but without the enthusiasm of yore. The current limitation of growth indicates the once tremendous economic and political power of the unions is ebbing.

Bigotry Or Smear?

"Christianity Today" is a fortnightly publication issued in Washington. It recently published an article entitled, "Bigotry or Smear?" This article summarized the opposition to a member of the Roman Catholic religion serving in public office in the United States.

I am neither a Roman Catholic nor a Protestant. I am, by religion, a Jew and cherish the heritage of my fathers. This political quarrel between Catholics and Protestants does not affect me as a religious partisan; it does affect me as an American who fears the consequences of the bitterness that religious particularism is developing in this country. We already have too many racial and religious conflicts in the United States.

Usually when an outsider enters a quarrel of this nature, he is the one who gets hurt. But this must be noted: the United States, at this stage in its history, requires most of all unity of purpose, unity of patriotism. We face a formidable enemy who will take advantage of every dissension among us.

To the outsider, a Christian is a Christian and the varieties of sect are private matters. Similarly, a candidate for President is an American, qualified by the Constitution and the law to run for office and to take office. The publication, "Christianity Today," says:

"... Roman Catholics have elected a record number of governors; their political power has greatly increased ..."

The Governors have been elected as American citizens. They are either Republicans or Democrats. In the United States, we have no Centrist Party, consisting of Roman Catholics. Such a political party would be intolerable. Similarly, a political party basing itself on some other religious sect would also be intolerable. In New Jersey, a state with a large number of voters who are Catholics, Governor Robert Meyner, who is no longer a follower of the religion of his cradle, was elected by a large vote; in Connecticut, a state which also has a large number of Catholic citizens, Abraham Ribicoff, a Jew, has twice been elected Governor of his state. By recognition on all sides, Alfred Smith was the best Governor New York State has had in many decades; certainly, he was the most beloved.

The article proceeds:

"Opposition to political Romanism is not unreasonable, because a Catholic in the Presidency would be torn between two loyalties as no Protestant has ever been. A candidate may announce, and even sincerely believe, that he is immune to Vatican pressure; but can we be sure that he will not succumb in the confessional booth to threats of purgatory and promises of merit from the organization which he believes to hold the keys of Heaven?"

What a pitiful argument in the 20th century! The enemy of our age is the destruction of the spiritual life by atheistic Marxism, leaving oncoming generations devoid of the essentials of Western civilization, faith, hope, and love. When religious groups, be they whatever they choose to call themselves, devote themselves to spreading hate, to rejecting diversities of response to the love for God, they assist in the ruination of Western civilization. They kill the spirit of our particular culture and leave us barren.

The article further says:

"Far from bigotry, opposition to the nomination and election of a Romanist is perfectly rational. To suggest that this opposition is bigotry is itself a smear campaign. It is an effort to distract the public's mind. It attempts to obscure the important difference between the wise policy of acknowledging religious liberty for all, even for Roman Catholics who do not believe in it, and the unwise policy of choosing a Romanist government that could take the first steps which would extinguish religious liberty."

This is 16th century language in the 20th century. Surely, we have moved closer to a universal association of all men and women of God in this century when the issue is being drawn sharply. Khrushchev has announced his atheism as a public doctrine; Senator John Kennedy has remained loyal to the faith of his fathers. Shall we be forced to decide between Khrushchev's atheism and Kennedy's form of Christianity?

It is not a question of bigotry or smear. It is a question as to whether any American citizen, of whatever faith, who fulfills the qualifications set forth in the Constitution, may be nominated for and elected to the Presidency of the United States. Do we have secondary citizens?

FCC Should Not Control Content Of TV Shows

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — There are two schools of thought nowadays in public affairs — those who want the government to take charge of everything, and those who want to see the individual freed from unnecessary restraints and restrictions so he can develop his ideas and his enterprises.

The subject is pertinent today because one group advocates that the government shall take complete charge of radio and television, and the other argues that this would be the worst thing that could happen to freedom of communication.

Which one of the two groups might be classed as "liberal" and which one could be described as "authoritarian"?

To get an answer, the writer consulted "Webster's New World Dictionary" and found this:

1. An "authoritarian" is one who believes in or advocates "unquestioning obedience to authority rather than individual freedom of judgment and action."

2. A "liberal" favors "political reforms tending toward democracy and personal freedom for the individual."

Just who, therefore, are the true "liberals" in the controversy going on these days over what should be done about regulating television and radio? Even such an organization as one which calls itself "The American Civil Liberties Union" seems to have deviated from the "liberal" faith as it declares that the Federal Communications Commission "should energetically exercise its power to require the radio-television industry to provide the maximum possible range and balance in subject matter and treatment in its over-all programming."

In a speech the other day, Dr. Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, called for a "freely competing, unrestricted television medium." He has been criticized for this statement on the ground that, since television channels are few in number and are allocated by the government, this is a monopoly. Dr. Stanton answers that there is no more reason why television should be regulated as to its content than newspapers should be. The argument is made in reply that anybody can buy a printing press and start a newspaper but nobody can get a television channel unless it is given up by a company already holding one.

But is this an accurate analogy? Must the government undertake to "balance" the disparities in business or the professions? It so happens that in about 95 per cent of the cities of the United States there is only one newspaper ownership. Is it the duty of the government to provide competitors to "balance" in each community the viewpoint of the existing publication? Certainly with the rising costs of newsprint and labor and the limited advertising market available in a given community, it wouldn't be possible as a rule to start a competing paper unless the government were to put up the funds.

Is the continued existence of "one-paper cities" something that troubles the "authoritarian" who really may think he favors "balancing" the situation but who would have to concede that, the moment the government starts to control what is said, this could be politically one-sided?

When the government tells the broadcasting stations what programs they must put on their channels to justify retention of their licenses, the end result is bound to be "authoritarianism." It certainly can't be called "liberalism."

The viewpoint which holds that, because the government allocates radio or television channels, it has the right to say what shall be done over the air waves by each licensee is not of recent origin. Unfortunately, it was expressed as far back as the Hoover Admin-

PITFALL — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller tells this story on himself to illustrate the many dangers of speaking off-the-cuff. He recalls that he was trying to explain his state's financial problems to a delegation of mothers in his office.

In attempting to reduce the problem to manageable proportions, he explained, he was trying to liken his state's budget problems to those of a family, and started out by saying, "Take an average unmarried couple with two children. . ."

As his face flushed with realization of the faux pas, Rockefeller related, the room suddenly cleared.

CLEVER WORKER—Representative Joel T. Broyhill is a Republican from Virginia, quite a rarity. He represents the Virginia district right across the Potomac River from Washington, and his chief interest is serving his voters who live there but hold jobs in the capital.

Broyhill, after working diligently for years, recently attended ground-breaking ceremonies for a new bridge across the river, named after a famous Virginian, George Mason.

One of the speakers at the ceremony commented that Broyhill was an adept politician. "He gets the bridge named for a famous Virginian and gets the people of Washington to pay for it."

Broyhill responded, "If there is any person here today who thinks I have any personal or political interest in this bridge—they're absolutely right."

Powell Vowed To Fight Tammany, Then Found A Way To 'Join 'Em'

By Drew Pearson

many's Carmine DeSapio changed his mind.

A Twinge Of Remorse

It was just six months later that after promising Harlem Republicans he would run on the Republican ticket, Powell began exploring ways by which he could justify a switch back to Tammany and the support of Gov. Averell Harriman against Nelson Rockefeller.

Justification took the form of interviews with the leading candidates running in the crucial New York State election as to who would do most for civil rights. He saw Rockefeller, candidate for governor; Louis Lefkowitz and Peter Grotty, running for Attorney General; and Frank Hogan and Rep. Kenneth Keating, running for the U.S. Senate. Each Republican he told he couldn't support them.

Keating he really wanted to support because Keating had led the civil rights battle in the House of Representatives. And Lefkowitz, as Attorney General, had made personal tours of the polling places in the previous election to keep the Democrats from stealing Powell's votes.

Nevertheless, under his agreement with DeSapio, Powell was obligated to tell these men that in order to preserve his seniority in Congress he must desert them.

When word of this got back to Harold Burton, Republican leader of Harlem who had agreed to put Powell on the Republican ticket, he was furious. And when Powell refused to see him, Burton staged a giant outdoor rally around the corner from the Congressman's Abyssinian Baptist Church, at which he accused Powell of a double-cross and called upon the congregation to renounce him as unworthy to be their pastor.

Earlier that day, October 7, the mercurial Congressman from Harlem had proceeded to fulfill his promise to DeSapio that he would call a press conference and issue a statement previously OK'd by both DeSapio and Governor Harriman. Carmine had stipulated that this must be done before he would deliver any of the promised expense money.

So after Powell issued his statement and after Harriman and DeSapio issued one in return appointing him co-chairman, with former Secretary of the Air Force Tom Finletter, of the Harriman-Hogan campaign, Acy Lennon was sent to DeSapio's Hotel Biltmore headquarters to collect the $50,000.

A Lot Of $50 Bills

He brought the money back to Powell, all in $50 denomination. The remaining $50,000 was to be paid at the rate of $100 a week over 10 years.

Powell then gave Acy the $5,000 he had promised him for negotiating the deal. Ray Jones, Powell's treasurer, was given $7,500, supposedly for reimbursement of money he had advanced in Powell's primary. Joseph Overton, a business agent of the Grocery Employees Union, president of the local NAACP, and co-manager of Powell's campaign, was given $2,500 for money advanced. Reuben Patton, salesman for Burke Motors, who had loaned Powell a Buick station wagon, got $500, while Fred Weaver, an assistant to Powell, was given $50 because he happened to be present.

Shortly thereafter, the Congressman told his church congregation how Charlie Willis, former assistant to Eisenhower, had offered him $50,000 of Republican money. "I told him," Powell shouted, "that no man can buy Adam Powell. I belong to my people."

The congregation stamped their feet, clapped, and waved their handkerchiefs.

What he didn't tell them was that he had taken $50,000 from Willis in 1956 and a $100,000 package from Tammany Democrats in 1958.

And on almost any Friday if you're down at the Biltmore Hotel in the late afternoon you'll see Acy Lennon, convicted secretary to Congressman Powell, coming down to Carmine DeSapio's headquarters to collect that $100 a week which is part of the $100,000 deal and is still being paid.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

In the spring, the little students brought tender shoots of pussy willow and curving branches of forsythia and gave them to the nun shyly. She thanked them, blinking behind her glasses, and sent them to their desks without a smile. She was writing a letter. The snowy fingers glided over the paper like ghostly skaters on a small pond. Now and then she paused to look at the subject of the letter.

He was the boy sitting in the fourth seat near the window. He was a husky boy, big and dark and quiet. The nun was certain that he had talent. He had always been at the head of his class. He had skipped a grade in every class. He was mannerly, diffident, neat and ambitious.

She looked down at the letter:

April 10, 1892

Dear Mrs. Bishop:

Your son John is a student in my class. I am moved to tell you that I am impressed. I predict that he will be a great success in life.

There was nothing more to write; no point in being flamboyant. He was clever, and she had said so. The white fingers spun the pen: "Sincerely," they wrote, "Sister M. Wenzelhaus." She sealed it, and called the boy.

"Take this to your mother," she said. He glanced apprehensively at the envelope. "Yes, Sister," he said. He went back to his desk and wondered what he had done to displease her. It troubled him all afternoon.

He walked and ran his way home, up Old Bergen Road to McAdoo, across McAdoo to Jackson and Warner, then through the woods to Fulton. He ran up the steps of the little house and inside. He was hanging his coat when he gave the letter to his mother.

She was a careworn woman who had come from Cork to marry an oil refinery fireman and to raise eight children, three of whom would die of diphtheria in Christmas week. She wiped her hands on her apron and opened the envelope. When she read it, she looked at John with a smug little smile and roughed his ears and showed it to him.

She was proud, but he was prouder. The family never had much. The letter became a talisman of pride. When company came on Sunday, the letter was taken from between the leaves of a big book and shown.

It brought nods of surprise, and sometimes a visitor would give John a penny as a means of congratulation.

Sometimes, when the father was upstairs in an asthma attack, fighting for the next breath, someone would tire of the tireless prayer and go to the big book and read the letter again. It came from a nun. A nun had said that Johnny would be a great success in life.

That made it so. Then the father died, and Mrs. Bishop, in her pride, took in washing to support her brood. Young John took a job on a farm, weeding from dawn until schooltime, and from 3 p.m. until dark.

They were all good children and, when they grew up they went to work, each handed the pay envelope to mother and waited to see how much might come back. In time, each went his way in life, getting married, having children, struggling for the rent. John had a succession of jobs: a farm, a steel mill, a blacksmith shop, brakeman on a railroad, and finally, the police department. In this, he worked as hard as he had at school. He read all the books on police procedures, obeyed orders, tried to be fair, and raised a family of his own, in which I was the eldest.

Later, he became a lieutenant and wore a single gold bar on his uniform cuffs and on each side of the collar. The years went by and his hair became as white as Sister Wenzelhaus' hands. One day he stopped on police business at St. Paul's Church.

"Many years ago," he said to Monsignor Monaghan, "I attended this school." The priest nodded politely. "There was a Sister Wenzelhaus," the lieutenant said. The priest became interested.

"She's still here," he said. The policeman shook his head. "Not this one," he said. "She'd be ninety." The priest beckoned. "Follow me," he said. They went across the street to the convent. In the kitchen, an old nun sat in a wheelchair. Her head was permanently bowed. She was deaf. "I have an old student of yours," the priest shouted. "His name is John Bishop."

She was silent, staring at the floor. "His mother had a house on Fulton Avenue," she said. Another silence. "Once, I wrote a note and predicted that John would be a great success in life. What did he do with himself?"

The proud policeman pushed the priest aside. His chest was out. "I'm a lieutenant of police, Sister," he said.

She shook her head. "What a pity," she murmured. "What a pity. . . ."

Frequently, I am asked, "Of all the contestants who have appeared on the What's My Line TV panel show, which do you remember best?" Well, that would have to be the elephant trainer from a Jones Beach outdoor show who appeared during the summer of 1955. The owner of the outdoor spectacle MADE him appear for the publicity: Lord knows he didn't WANT to come. His reluctance became clear an hour after he appeared. He was wanted in several states for car stealing, and the FBI nabbed him before he left the theater. Since we hadn't guessed his occupation, he won $50, which was forwarded to him in care of the warden of a federal penitentiary.

Other well-remembered "What's My Line" guests include a gent who made eyeglasses for chickens, another who made false teeth for cows, a lady who counted whales, and a lovely old girl of 80 or thereabouts who crocheted pockets for pool tables.

A veteran lighthouse keeper on the rocky coast of Maine had to be handed his walking papers last month. He kept dousing the light to watch TV!

The antimalarials are not a panacea for arthritis but offer an alternate to the corticosteroids and gold therapy. They are used only when ordinary measures, such as aspirin, are not helpful.

With the cost of medication making the headlines, this might be a good place to mention that the price of the antimalarials ranges between 16c and 48c a day, which is cigaret money or carfare to many people. This is a small price to pay for relief.

Fraser Is Victor In Masters Final

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Neale Fraser put on a terrific display of power and finesse Sunday in chopping down his Davis Cup partner, Roy Emerson, in straight sets of the Masters Invitational Men's Tennis Championship.

Fraser, the world's top-ranked amateur, came from a 2-5 deficit in the third set to clinch the title 6-4, 6-0, 9-7.

The left-handed Australian later combined efforts to win the doubles crown from the Swedish Davis Cup duo, Ulf Schmidt and Jean Eric Lundquist, 6-3, 8-6.

Ann Haydon 31-year-old English player, crushed Donna Floyd, a William and Mary College student from Arlington, Va., 6-1, 6-2 for the women's singles title.

Wilt Racks Up 32 But Warriors Lose

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The St. Louis Hawks unleashed a red-hot shooting attack in running up a 123-109 National Basketball Assn. victory over the Philadelphia Warriors before 8,801 fans Sunday.

Three Hawks nullified a 32-point performance by Philadelphia's Cliff Chamberlain. For St. Louis, Walt Hagan hit 29, Clyde Lovellette had 24 and Bob Pettit chipped in with 23 points.

St. Louis shot better than 50 per cent from the field in two 37-point quarters, the first and third.

Powers Hits Homer In Exhibition Tilt

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Johnny Powers, obtained from Cincinnati, and rookie Bobby Riedel were the batting stars Sunday in a Baltimore intra-squad doubleheader.

Powers hit a 375-foot homer to give Coach Harry Brecheen a 2-1 victory in the second game. Riedel collected five singles and a double during the twin bill. Other extra base blows were contributed by Brooks Robinson, Dave Nicholson, Lou Burke, Jim Finigan, Albie Pearson and Bob Saverine.

"Iron Mike," an electrical machine, pitched both games for each side.

Central Press Sports Editor
VERO BEACH, Fla. — Walter

Alston, the small-townish but successful soul who brought his Los Angeles Dodgers from seventh to a pennant and World Series victory last year, likes to talk about his champions, naturally, but also about his photographic studies of his family and his grandchildren, all made up in book form.

The picture portraits are good, and, looking over the defending champions at this old Navy base, one has to admit they look pretty good, too. Good enough, one might say, so that they are the team to beat.

The Dodgers have something like six or seven dozen players in camp, including 12 catchers and 35 pitchers.

Few Changes Seen
The hysteria of the World Series victory, the showing of young Larry Sherry and the staggering 3,365,934 at a tennance of the "Bums" last year are pages in the record book and it's a new year. However, the Dodgers of 1959 probably will remain the Dodgers of 1960, with few changes.

"Our club is pretty well set," said Alston as he reclined in an easy chair on the veranda of this Dodgertown village. "It's more or less the same ball club but winning the pennant did a lot to help our players, including the youngsters."

"I've heard the old story about the Dodgers getting too old ever since I've been managing but we have a young pitching staff and there are youngsters scattered throughout the regular lineup."

"Potentially, we have good pitching but it is erratic, too. We see Sandy Koufax strike out 13 and think he should win 20. And yet he doesn't. They're saying that Sherry was a flash in the pan. I don't go for this for he has real stuff. He'll be just as good as his control is. He has developed a slider and he should be a better pitcher."

"Our club," continued Alston, "can be maneuvered defensively. That Maury Wills surprised me. He has a great arm. I think we need a bit more power and we're going to see if we can get it from Frank Howard."

The big experiment is to try Place Methodist which finished the regular season in first place in the American Division with a 17-1 record. The playoff winner will receive the Lynn Lashley Trophy.

26 Schools Donate To Fugitt Memorial Scholarship Fund

BECKLEY, W. Va. (UPI)—J.R. VanMeter said Sunday 26 West Virginia schools already have contributed to a W. R. Fugitt Memorial Scholarship Fund.

The fund was established as a memorial to Fugitt, late executive secretary of the West Virginia Secondary Schools Activities Commission.

VanMeter, principal at Beckley Jr. High School and a former coach, serves as custodian of scholarship fund contributions.

The fund goal is $10,000. VanMeter said.

On the eighth, his 280 - foot drive dropped within a foot of the green and he putted 45 feet for an eagle.

He birdied the 14th with a 15-foot putt and turned in his final birdie with a 25-foot putt on the 16th. The only time Palmer was in trouble was when he fell into a sand trap on the third, costing him a bogey.

Palmer Is Consistent
Palmer was the only one in the tournament who consistently broke par, shooting a 71-71-69 before turning in Sunday's 68.

Bunched behind the second place finishers were five golfers who shot two - over - par 290s. They were Bob Goaly of Crystal River, Fla.; Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La.; Don Fairfield of Jacksonville, Fla.; Jack McGowan of Clearwater, Fla.; and Doug Roger Bresnahan of the New York Giants.

Catcher's shin guards are believed to have been first used in Jacksonville, Fla.; Jack McGowan of Clearwater, Fla.; and Doug Roger Bresnahan of the New York Giants.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Neale Fraser put on a terrific display of power and finesse Sunday in chopping down his Davis Cup partner, Roy Emerson, in straight sets of the Masters Invitational Men's Tennis Championship.

Fraser, the world's top-ranked amateur, came from a 2-5 deficit in the third set to clinch the title 6-4, 6-0, 9-7.

The left-handed Australian later combined efforts to win the doubles crown from the Swedish Davis Cup duo, Ulf Schmidt and Jean Eric Lundquist, 6-3, 8-6.

Ann Haydon 31-year-old English player, crushed Donna Floyd, a William and Mary College student from Arlington, Va., 6-1, 6-2 for the women's singles title.

Wilt Racks Up 32 But Warriors Lose

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The St. Louis Hawks unleashed a red-hot shooting attack in running up a 129-109 National Basketball Assn. victory over the Philadelphia Warriors before 8,601 fans Sunday.

Three Hawks nullified a 32-point performance by Philadelphia's Cliff Hagan but 29, Clyde Lovellette had 24 and Bob Pettit chipped in with 23 points.

St. Louis shot better than 50 per cent from the field in two 37-point quarters, the first and third.

Powers Hits Homer In Exhibition Tilt

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Johnny Powers, obtained from Cincinnati, and rookie Bobby Riedel were the batting stars Sunday in a Baltimore intra-squad doubleheader.

Powers hit a 375-foot homer to give Coach Harry Brecheen's team a 2-1 victory in the second game. Riedel collected five singles and a double during the twin bill. Other extra base blows were contributed by Brooks Robinson, Dave Nicholson, Leo Burke, Jim Flanagan, Albie Pearson and Bob Saverine.

"Iron Mike," an electrical machine, pitched both games for each side.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series on the major league teams.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor
VERO BEACH, Fla. — Walter Alston, the small-townish but successful soul who brought his Los Angeles Dodgers from seventh to a pennant and World Series victory last year, likes to talk about his champions, naturally, but also about his photographic studies of his family and his grandchildren, all made up in book form.

The picture portraits are good, and, looking over the defending champions at this old Navy base, one has to admit they look pretty good, too. Good enough, one might say, so that they are the team to beat.

The Dodgers have something like six or seven dozen players in camp, including 12 catchers and 35 pitchers.

Few Changes Seen
The hysteria of the World Series victory, the showing of young Larry Sherry and the staggering 3,365,934 attendance of the "Bums" last year are pages in the record book and it's a new year. However, the Dodgers of 1959 probably will remain the Dodgers of 1960, with few changes.

"Our club is pretty well set," said Alston as he reclined in an easy chair on the veranda of this Doggettville village. "It's more or less the same ball club but winning the pennant did a lot to help our players, including the youngsters."

"I've heard the old story about the Dodgers getting too old ever since I've been managing but we have a young pitching staff and there are youngsters scattered throughout the regular lineup. "Potentially, we have good pitching but it is erratic, too. We see Sandy Koufax strike out 18 and think he should win 20. And yet he doesn't. They're saying that Sherry was a flash in the pan. I don't go for this for he has real stuff. He'll be just as good as his control is. He has developed a slider and he should be a better pitcher."

"Our club," continued Alston, "can be maneuvered defensively. That Maury Wills surprised me. He has a great arm. I think we need a bit more power and we're going to see if we can get it from Frank Howard."

The big experiment is to try Howard, former Ohio State cage ace who was signed for a reported six-figure bonus in 1959, at first base. He played that spot in the winter league and hit well doing it. If he should win the first base job, Gil Hodges, now the highest-paid pitcher on the club at $39,000, will be used at third or, as a last resort, behind the plate.

Of Howard the Dodger skipper says: "In the near future he's going to be a great hitter. He has lots of power. He is strong and likes to play."

The Dodger catching has been a bit of a problem but Alston feels that John Roseboro has improved as a receiver and "I still think he will hit."

The Dodgers didn't make any trades during the winter, but there is a wealth of talent available from the farm clubs. High on the list of future possibilities is the $70,000 Mesa, Ariz., high school pitching phenom, Phil Ortega, who won six and lost seven for Bobby Bragan's Triple A Spokane club last summer after he was signed right out of high school.

Of the newcomers, Ed Roebuck, who has been up before but won 13 for St. Paul, is expected to rate a chance to stick as a pitcher. Others being looked at include Scott Breeden, a right-hander who won 11 for Victoria, and Ford Young, another right-hander who won 18 for the same club.

Tom Davis, a Brooklyn resident who hit .345 for Spokane, is an outfield hopeful counted on for future help. His minor league average was surpassed only by the 6-foot 7-inch Howard, who batted .356 for Victoria.

CAPSULE COMMENT

On The Dodgers

Finish last year—First. Pitching—Young staff, could be good.

Hitting—Oldsters Hodges, Snider and Moon, with neal and rookie Howard the hoped-for infield.

Fielding—Good.

Catching—Weak, needs hitters.

Overall—Could be team to beat again.

NEXT—The Baltimore Orioles.

Knicks Break Losing Streak

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Knickerbockers closed their home season at Madison Square Garden Sunday by breaking an 11-game losing streak with a 120-112 victory over the Detroit Pistons.

Although this has been their worst season in NBA history in the standings, the Knicks set an all-time league attendance record of 335,578 for the season. They drew 326,674 at home last season.

Dick Garmaker, who scored 30 points, helped New York withstand a furious final quarter rally by the Pistons. High scorer for Detroit was Bailey Howell with 22 points.

Garmaker had good support from Willie Naulls, who scored 23 points and Richie Guerin, who had 21. Walt Dukes tallied 21 for Detroit.

Tri-Towns Unit Will Elect Officers Today

Will Convene At Piedmont

PIEDMONT — A meeting of the Tri-Towns Community Council will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Piedmont Presbyterian Church, according to Mrs. Arthur Hartman, acting chairman.

The election of officers will be held which will include a president and vice president and an executive board.

A slate of officers was presented at the February meeting and other nominations may be made from the floor.

Kenneth Sheetz, principal of Bruce High School, will preside as Mrs. Hartman will be instructing a church training class at Keyser.

Copies of the revised by-laws will be distributed.

Piedmont Parent-Teacher Association was the first organization that has sent a check for membership, according to Mrs. Hartman. Wilbur Cathers is its representative and Harold Pugh the alternate.

Preston Cites Problem Of Snow Removal

FROSTBURG — William Preston, street commissioner, stated yesterday that the heavy snow storms and high winds which have hit the City of Frostburg have brought increasing expenses to the street department.

The equipment that the city now has is not big enough or heavy enough to handle the drifting snow.

The only heavy piece of equipment that was available was the 1944 truck which is "incapacitated" due to bucking heavy drifts, and being obsolete, no parts are available to put it back in working order. This has left the city with one small plow which has been operating around the clock for the past three weeks.

Streets were opened for traffic with the assistance of a bulldozer and payloader rented from Morgan Brothers Industrial Sales Inc. With this equipment and the employees working day and night, some as many as 18 hours a shift, the streets were plowed open as quickly as possible. Not only is equipment exhausted said Mr. Preston, the employees are too.

Many persons have asked why the city has not purchased heavy equipment for snow removal use. Mr. Preston pointed out that it is not deemed advisable to spend city funds for equipment that would be used approximately two per cent of the life of the equipment for snow removal. The finances for the street department are designated for equipment of the type that the city can put to 100 per cent use.

This being one of the worst snow storms in the history of Frostburg and the probability that it will not happen every year means that these problems may not come up for years to come and Mr. Preston has asked the full cooperation of the citizens during this time of emergency.

It is realized, he said, that many people have suffered inconveniences during the storm and everything humanly possible is being done to alleviate the situation. He closed his statement by saying "with more cooperation and common courtesies shown to one another and less criticism, the mountainous task of snow removal would proceed more efficiently."

Midland Fire Report Filed

MIDLAND — Members of the Midland Volunteer Fire Company spent 23,970 man hours fighting fires and answering alarms last year according to Chief Harry Devlin in his annual report.

Twenty-nine different calls were answered. There are now 60 members in the department and the average attendance at each fire was 30 men.

One outstanding activity of the company, Chief Devlin said, is the attendance each week at the drill periods. An average of 16 men is present at each training session.

The group also completed a course planned by the Fire Extension Service of the University of Maryland with Devlin as instructor. Included in the class were two members from Lonaconing.

Equipment of the department consists of three trucks, two pumps and a tank vehicle, with a total value of $39,450.

Burns Fatal To Area Woman

A 21-year-old Allegany County woman died Friday night in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, of burns sustained in an accident at her home about two weeks ago.

Born at Midland, she was a daughter of Joseph and Sarah (Metz) Morgan, Lonaconing, Mrs. Shroyer held membership in First Methodist Church, Lonaconing, and the Adult Fellowship of the church.

Surviving, besides her husband, are four brothers, John Morgan, Baltimore; Sgt. Irvin and Technical Sgt. James Morgan, both members of the Air Force, and Raymond Morgan, Lonaconing, and two sisters, Mrs. Thelma Llewellyn, Bedford, Pa., and Mrs. Anna Clark, Rawlings.

West Virginia 4-H Camps Change Greatly Since 1915

KEYSER — 4-H camps have gone a long way since Camp Good Luck, the first one which was held in 1915. The camp idea is taken for granted as part of the summer activities in every county where agriculture extension work is carried out. Boys, girls and their leaders have accepted camp as one of the greatest and best places for youth training in the fundamentals of leadership and four-fold citizenship.

County 4-H camp is a complete part of the traditional wealth. The first camp was the beginning of a great movement in camping. That delightful form of living close to nature has spread to the far corners of the nation and to many foreign lands.

Four state camps which have become traditional to West Virginia 4-H Club members. One is the Volunteer Leaders' Camp which is held in June each year. The program is arranged to give definite help to local 4-H leaders relative to leading a club. Older 4-H Club member's camp is the youngest of the state camps, the first one held in 1944. Each county is permitted to send to this camp two boys and two girls, club members between the ages of 16 and 21. The program is the discussion type. Another camp is the State 4-H Boys' Camp for boys 14 to 21. These boys must have attended one or more county 4-H camps. The program varies in discussion and outdoor activities.

Then, there is the State 4-H Girls' Camp for girls from 14 to 21 and the curriculum used is the same as for boys camp. Finally, there is Camp Washington Carver which was authorized by the West Virginia Legislature, is in Fayette county. To it, at various camping dates in the summer will go many Negro 4-H club members. Camp Washington Carver is ideally situated for camping and has excellent facilities for caring for the physical comforts of the campers. It provides an ideal situation for nature observation and teaching.

Preston Cites Problem Of Snow Removal

FROSTBURG — William Preston, street commissioner, stated yesterday that the heavy snow storms and high winds which have hit the City of Frostburg have brought increasing expenses to the street department.

The equipment that the city now has is not big enough or heavy enough to handle the drifting snow.

The only heavy piece of equipment that was available was the 1944 truck which is "incapacitated" due to bucking heavy drifts, and being obsolete, no parts are available to put it back in working order. This has left the city with one small plow which has been operating around the clock for the past three weeks.

Streets were opened for traffic with the assistance of a bulldozer and a bulldozer rented from Morgan Brothers Industrial Sales, Inc. With this equipment and the employees working day and night, some as many as 18 hours a shift, the streets were plowed open as quickly as possible. Not only is equipment exhausted said Mr. Preston, the employees are too.

Many persons have asked why the city has not purchased heavy equipment for snow removal use. Mr. Preston pointed out that it is not deemed advisable to spend city funds for equipment that would be used approximately two per cent of the life of the equipment for snow removal. The finances for the street department are designated for equipment of the type that the city can put to 100 per cent use.

This being one of the worst snow storms in the history of Frostburg and the probability that it will not happen every year means that these problems may not come up for years to come and Mr. Preston has asked the full cooperation of the citizens during this time of emergency.

It is realized, he said, that many people have suffered inconveniences during the storm and everything humanly possible is being done to alleviate the situation. He closed his statement by saying "with more cooperation and common courtesies shown to one another and less criticism, the mountainous task of snow removal would proceed more efficiently."

West Virginia 4-H Camps Frostburg TV Change Greatly Since 1915 Seeks To Add Fourth Channel

KEYSER — 4-H camps have gone a long way since Camp Good Luck, the first one which was held in 1915. The camp idea is taken for granted as part of the summer activities in every county where agriculture extension work is carried out. Boys, girls and their leaders have accepted camp as one of the greatest and best places for youth training in the fundamentals of leadership and four-fold citizenship.

County 4-H camp is a complete part of the traditional wealth. The first camp was the beginning of a great movement in camping. That delightful form of living close to nature has spread to the far corners of the nation and to many foreign lands.

Four state camps which have become traditional to West Virginia 4-H Club members. One is the Volunteer Leaders' Camp which is held in June each year. The program is arranged to give definite help to local 4-H leaders relative to leading a club. Older 4-H Club member's camp is the youngest of the state camps, the first one held in 1944. Each county is permitted to send to this camp two boys and two girls, club members between the ages of 16 and 21. The program is the discussion type. Another camp is the State 4-H Boys' Camp for boys 14 to 21. These boys must have attended one or more county 4-H camps. The program varies in discussion and outdoor activities.

Then, there is the State 4-H Girls' Camp for girls from 14 to 21 and the curriculum used is the same as for boys camp. Finally, there is Camp Washington Carver which was authorized by the West Virginia Legislature, in Fayette county. To it, at various camping dates in the summer will go many Negro 4-H club members. Camp Washington Carver is ideally situated for camping and has excellent facilities for caring for the physical comforts of the campers. It provides an ideal situation for nature observation and teaching.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:

AK 6 2 ♥ A Q 5 ♦ AK 9 6 3 ♠ A 7

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♦ Pass 2 ♣ Pass

3 NT Pass 5 ♣ Pass

What do you bid now?

A—Seven diamonds. You will probably claim the hand after the opening lead. Partner naturally has fine diamond support, a good club suit, a singleton, and a king. Else, how could he combine a two club take-out with a jump of five diamonds.

Q. 2—As South you hold:

AK 6 4 2 ♥ Q 7 5 ♦ AKJ 8 ♠ 6 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ 1 ♠ 2 ♣

What do you bid now?

A—Two hearts. With the promoted value of the queen of hearts and the doubled club, you have sufficient values to justify a free bid. A bid of one trump to show the spade stopper is not to be considered. The fact that you have only three trumps is no objection to the raise. If partner has a four card suit and a weak hand, he will go no further.

Q. 3—You are vulnerable, partner opens with four hearts, and you hold:

AK 10 6 4 ♥ Q 6 4 2 ♠ AKJ 5

What do you bid?

A—There is no scientific way to handle this situation. You simply have to exercise your sporting blood. Our recommendation is a bid of six hearts. You surely have 12 tricks if the defense does not cash two diamond tricks at once. First of all, they will have to guess the lead. Furthermore, partner might have a singleton.

Q. 4—As South you hold:

AKQ 10 5 ♥ AQ 3 ♦ AA 9 7 6 2

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ 1 ♥ 1 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A—That partner was able to make a free bid seems almost too good to be true, and in a rough and tumble game it would be appropriate for you to contract for a slam. However, big things may be in order, and the services of science should be enlisted. A proper call to lay the basis for the investigation is two hearts, a cue bid which is game forcing and suggests a slam.

Q. 5—As South you hold:

7 4 ♠ K 10 4 ♦ AK Q 7 3 ♠ A 6 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1 ♠ 1 ♥ 1 NT Pass

What do you bid now?

A—Contract immediately for a game in no trump. Your hand contains 16 points in high cards. The free bid of one no trump by partner promises at least 10 high card points, so that the necessary 26 points are there with a good five card suit to boot.

Q. 6—As South you hold:

AK 5 3 ♥ A J 10 ♦ 7 5 4 ♠ 10 9 8 4

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ 1 NT Pass

What do you bid now?

A—Your hand contains good values for the no trump response and you should, therefore, give your partner one more chance. We have a slight preference for a raise to three clubs, which will take care of partner if he has a weak hand that is principally distribution. If partner's hand contains a reasonable number of high cards, he may choose to return to three no trump.

Q. 7—As South you hold:

AKQ 10 9 ♥ A 10 4 ♦ Q 10 5 ♠ J 2

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A—Six spades. You have distinctly more than an opening bid and partner has opened and jumped so there should be no doubt of the slam. There can be no real fear of losing two diamond tricks, since partner must have at least the king of diamonds or a singleton as part of his values.

Q. 8—As South you hold:

AKQ 9 6 4 2 ♥ Q 8 2 ♦ 9 2 ♠ 8 4 2

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ 1 ♥ 2 ♣ 3 ♠

What do you bid now?

A—Four spades. Your hand, despite the heart trick, will be a disappointment to your partner defensively. He does not know you have five spades and is probably counting on you for some high cards in view of your free bid. The loss at four spades should be very slight.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I If it rains I don't bother to look for it because I know it's soaked through and impossible to read. When it snows I need a shovel to find it. There are three papers on the roof at this very moment, and two in a tree.
You see, Ann, there are two sides to every story. I feel better already. Thank you. — A READER—WHEN I CAN FIND THE PAPER
Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teen-agers if you read ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.
(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

DEAR FLOP: Now I know how my readers feel when they say "I was so glad to read that problem in your column. It helps to know that someone else is having it, too."
"Bless you for writing. My gelatin isn't so hot either. I just asked the food editor how to make it and she said "It's SIMPLE! The directions are on the package." Please, Ann, forget about the directions and tell me in your own words.

DEAR ANN: My son is going to marry a lovely girl in May. Everything was fine till we discovered the girl's parents are planning a simple church wedding and a reception at home.
Please don't misunderstand. We aren't snobs, but we do have social status in town. My husband is a professional man.
When we discussed this with our son he shrugged his shoulders and said "That's all they can afford, and it's O.K. with me."
We went to the girl's parents and offered to pay for a beautiful reception at a hotel. They refused politely and changed the subject.

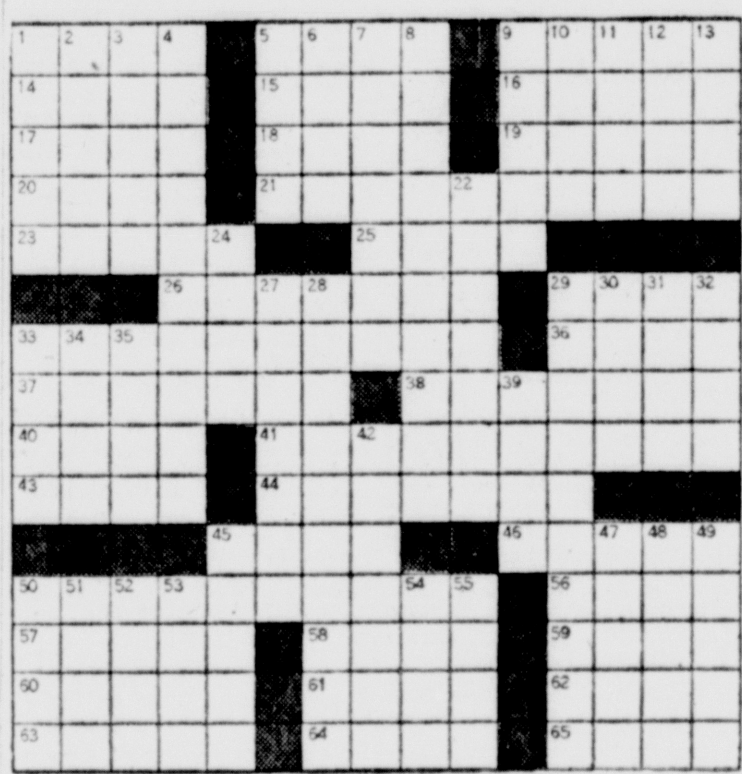

We're in a very embarrassing position. Ann. We owe many social obligations and we can't invite our class of friends to a crackerbox of a house for a glass of punch. They'd laugh at us. Don't you think the girl's parents should swallow their false pride for our sake?—HUMILIATED
DEAR HUMILIATED: YOU have the false pride. The girl's parents have dignity and character and refuse to be bought off. Ho-ho-ho for them!
Give a party on your own to repay social debts and don't press yourself. You've already made yourselves look like opportunistic social climbers.

DEAR ANN: You claim to be fair. Well, I dare you to print THIS side of the story.
The letter from the paper boy was fine. I don't blame kids for getting mad when they have to come back to collect three times. But my problem is different. My paper boy hasn't been here to collect for three weeks.
When he first started to deliver, the paper was always by the door. Now, it's a treasure hunt.

What do you bid now?
A—Four spades. Your hand, despite the heart trick, will be a disappointment to your partner defensively. He does not know you have five spades and is probably counting on you for some high cards in view of your free bid. The loss at four spades should be very slight.

UPI Editor Dies

MANILA (UPI)—Ramon Villasantia Jr., senior desk editor of the United Press International Manila bureau, died Sunday of a heart attack. Villasantia, a veteran of seven years with the UPI, was 31. He was also a noted short story writer, feature writer and sports writer.

Tax Collections Show Decline

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—

West Virginia will collect enough tax revenues through next June to meet 1959-60 expenses but the anticipated $2,800,000 surplus will not be realized.

State Finance Director Henry L. Ash told the Board of Public Works Friday that West Virginia would collect the necessary $40,000,000 to meet $115,000,000 for the current fiscal year.

Ash, who was asked by Gov. Cecil H. Underwood for his views on the state's revenue picture, noted that during the last four months of the previous fiscal year the state collected $36,000,000.

The finance director said the $40,000,000 would include money from higher whisky prices to go into effect by April 1.

Ash reported earlier last week that revenue collections during the first eight months of the 1959-60 fiscal year were nearly $2,000,000 short of the estimated $77,155,455.

During the board's meeting Friday, it authorized expenditures totaling $61,700 for three departments and released $3,000 to the State Conservation Commission for construction of toilet facilities at Pt. Pleasant Battle Monument State Park.

The expenditures included $49,000 from Weston State Hospital's salary account to construct a new coal tippie and a new mine opening at the hospital.

The board permitted the State Department of Motor Vehicles to use $12,000 out of its current expense account for new equipment and added $12,000 to the Conservation Commission's social security account to meet payments for the last half of this fiscal year.

Anticipated W.Va. Surplus Fades Away

Tax Collections Show Decline

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia will collect enough tax revenues through next June to meet 1959-60 expenses but the anticipated $2,800,000 surplus will not be realized.

U.S. Churches Publish Many Magazines

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—America's churches are going into the magazine business on an ever-increasing scale.

The Episcopal Church is the latest big denomination to announce plans for a professionally-edited, slick-paper monthly. It will appear in April under the name of The Episcopalian.

Several other denominations are already publishing similar "family magazines" for their members.

The Methodists have a hand-somely-illustrated journal called Together. The United Presbyterian Life for adults and a new periodical called HI-WAY for teenagers.

Catholics Publish Many. The United Lutheran Church gets out a magazine called The Lutheran, the Seventh Day Adventists have their Life and Health, the Unitarians their Register, the Christian Scientists their Journal, the United Church of Christ its Herald.

Catholic families can choose from a long list which includes Ave Maria, Catholic Digest and The Sign.

All of these periodicals compare favorably with regular commercial magazines in typography, layout, use of color illustrations and the general quality of their articles.

The only difference between them and any other magazine you might buy from a newsstand is that they are forthrightly religious publications.

Features Offered. Many of them offer the same types of features that are found in general circulation magazines — short stories, how-to-do-it pieces, factual articles, reviews of plays, books, movies, and TV programs.

But the fiction usually has an underlying spiritual theme. The how-to pieces are designed to help those who are having problems with prayer, or Bible reading, or family devotions. The factual articles explain church doctrines, or spotlight social situations such as desegregation or teen-age marriages which should concern church members.

Behind the trend toward church-sponsored family magazines is the conviction of many religious leaders that some new form of communication, reaching directly into the homes of average churchgoers, is urgently needed in modern America.

Congress Learns Plight Of 'Forgotten People'

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress seems to be discovering America's "forgotten people."

The "forgotten people" — so designated by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell — are 500,000 migrant farm workers and their families who follow the seasons from state to state, harvesting fruit and vegetable crops.

Mitchell says they stand "at the very bottom of the U. S. economic scale," earning an average of less than $900 a year for the break-breaking labor in the fields.

They are not covered by laws — such as minimum wage and unemployment insurance — which protect other American workers.

Their housing conditions are often vile and their disease rates shockingly high. Their children rarely get more than a smattering of education.

Churches Call Attention. Church and civic groups have long tried to call attention to the migrants' plight. But public apathy and opposition from powerful farm organizations have hitherto smothered legislative attempts to aid them.

This year, however, seven migrant bills are pending in Congress. A Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., (D-N.J.) has taken up their cause, and is holding a series of public hearings in various parts of the country to gather information.

Congress may not get around to acting on any of these bills in this election-year. But their introduction, and the hearings, already have brought the migrants more congressional attention than they've ever had before.

Sponsors of the bills are hopeful that next year, if not this year, the climate may be favorable for passing some legislation.

Bills Before Congress. The bills before Congress would: —Bring migrants (and other agricultural workers) under the Fair Labor Standards Act, with a minimum wage of 75 cents an hour the first year, rising within two years to the same level of $1 an hour now guaranteed other workers.

—Extend child labor laws to cover migrant youngsters (many of whom now go to work in the fields when they are five or six years old.)

—Provide government guaranteed loans for construction of decent housing for migrant families.

—Require registration of "crew leaders" who recruit migrant workers and transport them from job to job. Any crew leader found exploiting workers could be denied certification. Two separate bills have been introduced on this subject.

—Authorize federal grants to local school districts to provide educational facilities, including summer schools, for migrant children. Provision would also be made for an adult education program (many migrant parents are illiterate.)

—Provide fellowships to train special teachers for migrant education projects.

Invalid Widow Dies In D.C. Hotel Blaze

WASHINGTON (AP)—An invalid widow was burned to death and a once prominent woman lecturer writer critically injured Sunday as fire swept a portion of Washington's Hotel 2400.

Fatally burned was Mrs. Dorothy C. Daly, 59, paralyzed from the waist down. She was found by firemen beside her wheelchair in her fifth-floor room.

Rescued by firemen wearing oxygen masks was Miss Alice Hutchins Drake, 70, a native of Chicago who has lived in Washington for many years.

Police said the fire apparently was started by a cigarette in Mrs. Daly's room. The rooms of the two women were destroyed by the three-alarm blaze.

Warns West Allies

BERLIN (UPI)—Erich Mende, head of the West German Free Democratic Party, warned the Western Allies Sunday that a surrender of West Berlin would mean the beginning of "a roll back of freedom in Europe."

He said if Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev again threatens to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany, the Western Allies should tell him:

"We will guarantee free and unhindered access to Berlin under all circumstances and with all the consequence."

'90th Serious Warning'

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China charged a U.S. warship intruded into its territorial waters in the Haitian area off Fukien province Sunday. Peiping radio said a spokesman of Communist China's Foreign Ministry had been authorized to issue the "90th serious warning" to the United States against such "military provocation."

Passion Play Will Begin 46th Season

UNION CITY, N. J. (UPI)—A passion play, hailed in the past as the Abernethy of America, is being produced again this Lenten season for the 46th consecutive year.

The play, entitled "Veronica's Veil," deals with the drama of Christ's passion and death and the early days of Christianity. It was written before World War I by a Roman Catholic priest, the late Rev. Bernardine Busch, a member of the Passionist Order.

Church accounts say Christ left the imprint of his face on a veil offered to him by St. Veronica on the road to Calvary.

Since the play was first given in 1914, there have been some 12,000 performances witnessed by more than 1,500,000 persons. It has earned the distinction of being called the Oberammergau of America.

Oberammergau is a small village in Bavaria which is world-famous for its productions of a passion play presented at 10-year intervals.

The performances are being given in a brick theater in the shadow of St. Michael's monastery, headquarters for the eastern province of the Passionist fathers. The final performance will be April 12.

Performers are non-salaried members of this northern New Jersey community. Schoolteachers, store clerks, secretaries and a host of other occupations are represented in the cast.

China's Women Leave Kitchens For Factories

By CHARLES R. SMITH

TOKYO (UPI)—The Communists claim they've ended the dishwater drudgery for women in China.

They've taken the girls out of the kitchen and put them in the fields and factories.

The Reds describe this move as a "new historical stage" in the Chinese women's movement. The women now have "unprecedented conditions" for taking part in social productive labor, the Communists claim.

And the women are taking part, whether they like it or not.

The official New China News Agency, citing communes in the 11-county area around Shanghai as an example, said "practically all the able-bodied women do all kinds of work in the people's communes."

Only Small Portion. These women around Shanghai are but a small portion of the 200-million who have worked shoulder to shoulder with men in building irrigation works, gathering and making fertilizer, deep ploughing, close planting, field management and other jobs on the farm.

This total comes from an official magazine on women's affairs, "Women of China."

The magazine also said the number of women in the fields of industry, transport, communications and commerce more than doubled during the first year of the commune program (from 3.28 million in 1957 to 7.5 million in 1958). The figure has increased considerably during the past year.

The magazine said the reason the Communist party has been able to "release them (the women) from their household chores" is "through the socialization of household tasks."

No Longer A Worrier. Home duties are a worry no longer with the community dining rooms, state nurseries, kindergartens, tailoring workshops, laundries and other facilities, the magazine reported.

The women, it added, "say they are as happy as if they had grown wings and could fly."

But some students of Chinese affairs say this just isn't exactly so.

Many—if not most — of them would rather be doing dishes than deep ploughing, they believe.

Much of the discontent that has arisen in the communes of Mao Tse-Tung — and there are firm indications plenty has arisen — has been generated by the women, they also believe.

Many of the women have shown a particular dissatisfaction at being separated, even part of the time, from their children, and leaving the care and training of the children to others.

Warming Sun Forecast In Area Today

Winds Diminish Over Maryland

The sunshine of yesterday afternoon had little melting effect on the snow-covered highways of Garrett County, where road crews worked throughout the day to keep traffic moving.

Welcome news to those tired of the snow is that diminishing winds settled over Maryland yesterday. And sunny weather and slightly warmer temperatures are forecast this afternoon.

Crews of the State Roads Commission worked around the clock Saturday night, and yesterday evening they decided to call it a day. All trucks and plowing equipment were back in the garage, a spokesman for the SRC said.

A light snow was falling in the Garrett County area last night, but by 9:30 p. m. it had stopped.

The sheriff's office reported there will be school in Garrett County today, although some of the children probably will not make it to classes due to the condition of some of the back roads.

Main Routes Open

All the main highways in Garrett County were open to traffic last night although some have one-way traffic.

State Police said U. S. Route 40 was snow-covered and slippery in Garrett County, although the highway was rather clear and dry east of Cumberland with the exception of some icy spots.

The warming sunshine yesterday afternoon managed to melt some of the ice and snow from the highway east of here, but last night the mercury dipped below the freezing mark, causing icy spots on the road.

U. S. Route 50 was "pretty well clear" east of Romney, W. Va., police said. West of that community the highway was open but snow-covered. Chains were recommended.

Ralph Weber, official weather observer in Garrett County, said the sun was shining there for about two hours but its rays were not strong enough to have much melting effect.

Trace Of New Snow

Through the night, he said, there was a sprinkling of about three-tenths of an inch of snow. The low reading in that county was seven degrees above zero, and the official high reading was 27 degrees. The mercury had skidded to 17 degrees by 5 p. m.

The temperature rose to 28 degrees in Cumberland yesterday, according to Robert R. Golden, weather observer here, who said the official low reading was 15 degrees.

The sun shone brightly in Cumberland yesterday afternoon. Near-zero temperatures were expected in the mountains of Western Maryland early this morning and during the day the temperature is expected to go into the 20s. High 30s are forecast for the rest of Western Maryland.

Preston County "Drifted In"

Public school children of Preston County, W. Va. will have another holiday today due to the weather. Many families in that county have been isolated by high winds tossing fresh snow about the area.

Adj. Gen. W. E. Blake said yesterday that members of the Service Battery of the National Guard's 21st Artillery Battalion were still alerted for any emergency that might arise in the county.

He had offered the use of a National Guard helicopter but the high winds and a low ceiling made its use impossible.

$5,000 Damage Suit Docketed In Court

Geraldine Doolan, through Attorney Edward J. Ryan, has filed a $5,000 damage suit in Allegheny County Circuit Court against Edward L. Clinebell, trading as Clinebell Cake Box, 33 North Centre Street.

The suit grew out of a traffic accident involving an automobile in which the woman was a passenger, and a station wagon owned by the bakery. The car, which was being driven by her son, had stopped for a traffic light at the intersection of Greene and Allegheny streets last September 14.

The declaration contended that the Clinebell station wagon did not stop in time and struck the automobile. Mrs. Doolan contends that she sustained a whiplash injury to her cervical spine, was unable to operate her beauty shop for a time and her arthritic condition was aggravated.

Firemen Plan Annual Smoker At Clarysville

Bi-County Group Schedules Activities

The Clarysville Volunteer Fire Company will be host to the annual smoker of the Allegheny-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association Saturday, April 23, at the Clary Club.

Plans were discussed yesterday afternoon during a meeting of the association at the Baltimore Pike fire hall.

Dinner will be served from 5 to 8 p. m. A floor show will follow. Invitations are being sent out to state and county officials.

Among those invited are Gov. J. Millard Tawes, officers and committee chairmen of the Maryland State Firemen's Association; state senators and members of the House of Delegates and county commissioners from Allegheny and Garrett counties.

Awards To Be Given

The Independent Insurance Agents Association of the two counties has decided to present heroism awards to members of the volunteer companies who warrant an award. Henry Wintermyer, of LaVale, is chairman of the committee.

The March 14 meeting of the officers training class at Barton will center on fire prevention. The class, from 7 to 10 p. m., is sponsored by the Fire Service Extension of the University of Maryland.

A tentative date of May 21-22 has been set for an Extension Fire School at Frostburg. The volunteers of that community have obtained an empty dwelling which will be burned in connection with the school.

Changes in by-laws for next year must be submitted during the April meeting of the association held Sunday, April 3, at Kitzmiller.

The association voted to give $125 in parade prize money to member companies participating in the parade held in conjunction with the annual convention June 9 at Deer Park.

Circus Planned

During the last week in May the association will sponsor a circus at Corriganville, McCoole, Frostburg and McHenry.

The association decided to contact the State Roads Commission and ask that in the future, snow not be plowed into the entrance of a fire hall. Barton volunteers said that on two occasions they had to "dig out" after the plows went by.

A memorial service was held yesterday for firemen who died during the past month, including those from Barton, Kitzmiller, Lonaconing and Mt. Savage.

Twenty-four of the 31 member companies were present. Ten past presidents attended the meeting. A ham supper was served by the auxiliary unit of the Baltimore Pike Fire Company.

Not only is Templeton a superb musician but he has been called the greatest living master of improvisation, and his vivid personality and good humor make him a favorite with audiences all over the world.

So many requests have been received for admission to the Alec Templeton concert that the concert association directors decided to sell tickets to the public generally for this one attraction, provided area residents sign ap-

Interest Rates Got Much Of Legislature's Attention

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles reviewing activities of the 1960 Maryland General Assembly.

By LOUIS G. PANOS

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The money you pay as interest on loans and installment purchases was one of the most extensively discussed subjects in the Maryland Legislature this year.

But it was also one of the most sensitive subjects, and after considering seven major bills dealing with it the lawmakers decided to take no action.

Instead, they agreed to let the Legislative Council, their between-sessions study unit, take a long look at the problem and return with recommended legislation next year.

Five of the bills could have meant higher interest rates for borrowers.

One of these, introduced by Del. Harry McGuirk (D-Balto 6th), would have increased the state's legal interest rate from six to eight per cent—if both parties in the loan or sale transaction agreed.

McGuirk's bill was dropped into the hopper one day before the Feb. 25 deadline but it failed to get out of the Ways and Means Committee.

Two Other Bills

Two other measures would not have reduced the legal interest rates, but they were designed to give borrowers a better idea of how much their loans or installment purchases were actually costing.

One of these—introduced by Dels. Margaret C. Schweinhaut (D-Montgomery) and Francis X. Gallagher (D-Balto 3rd)—produced one of the rarest scenes of the Legislature.

The bill, patterned after one being championed by U. S. Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) and similar to one later introduced in Annapolis by Del. Charles McC. Mathias (R-Frederick), would have required the lender to give advance notice in writing of all interest, finance charges, discount charges or other fees. He also would have had to declare what percentage of the total cost of the transaction they represented.

Held Up For Study

But after the measure reached the House floor, its sponsor asked that it be held up until next year for further study.

Another unusual development stemmed from a bill which opponents said would have increased the cost of a 12-month, $1,000 loan by 62.5 per cent.

The bill had the backing of House Speaker Perry O. Wilkinson (D-Prince Georges), Majority Leader A. Gordon Boone (D-Balto County), Speaker Pro-tem Jerome Robinson (D-Balto 4th) and Judiciary Committee Chairman Ridgeley P. Melvin Jr. (D-Anne Arundel).

But Dels. Carlton Sikes (D-Prince Georges) and Charles H. Smelser (D-Frederick) led the fight against the measure and it failed by an 82-27 margin.

Also defeated were bills to exempt from the usury laws any mortgage loans approved by the Federal Housing Administration, to provide similar exemptions for charges allowed by the federal government, and to increase from $300 to $800 the limit of loans covered by the small loans act.

While the individual borrower will be unaffected by any legislation considered this year, the state itself probably will wind up paying more for the money it borrows.

Because of the relatively tight money market and resultant increases in interest rates throughout the nation, it is difficult to market state construction bonds under the present 3½ per cent interest ceiling on such bonds. So the lawmakers voted to raise this to 4 per cent.

County Library Cost Would Be 53c Per Person

Maryland Figures Are Compared

The $48,000 which the Allegheny County Library Committee is seeking in county funds for the operation of the proposed county-wide library system amounts to about 53 cents for each resident of the county.

Figures compiled from the Maryland Libraries publication for 1958-59, show that seven of the now existing county libraries receive more than 53 cents for each resident of the county.

The state high is Montgomery County, where the library's county support amounts to $1.90 per person. Others above the proposal for Allegheny County, according to Mrs. William A. Cook, secretary of the county library committee here, include Washington County, 99 cents, including county and city appropriations; Prince George's County, 89 cents; Talbot County, 80 cents plus a large United Fund contribution; Queen Anne's County, 68 cents; Baltimore County, 63 cents; and Wicomico County, 58 cents.

Same As Cecil County

Cecil County gets 53 cents, exactly what Allegheny County is requesting from the county commissioners in the year starting July 1.

Counties getting less than 53 cents per person for county library support include Garrett County, 51 cents; Charles County, 48 cents; Howard County, 47 cents; Harford, St. Mary's and Carroll counties, 44 cents each; Anne Arundel, 40 cents; and Calvert County, 35 cents. Worcester County has just established the 17th county library among Maryland's 23 counties but the amount of its county support was not available.

Residents of Baltimore City provide an average of $2 per person for the Enoch Pratt Library, recognized as one of the finest libraries in the United States.

Since the county library committee reorganized early in January in an effort to get the county commissioners to provide for the establishment of a county library in their 1960-61 budget, some 91 letters and petitions have been received by the county commissioners and all but three of them have been in favor of the proposal. Some of the communications had as many as 53 signers.

Backed By Groups

Among organizations which have endorsed the proposal are the Oldtown School PTA, Central Elementary PTA of Lonaconing, Xi Alpha Lambda sorority of Luke, with nine signers; Washington Camp No. 88, Patriotic Order, Sons of America, Ellerslie; Mt. Savage Homemakers Club, St. Michael's PTA, Frostburg; Allegheny County Youth Commission; LaVale County Club and Bedford Road Optimist Club, Cresap Homemakers Club of Cresaptown and McCoole PTA.

Individuals not previously listed who have written letters endorsing the county library proposal include Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Douglas, 1607 Holland Street; Mrs. William A. Douglas, 675 National Highway, LaVale; Mr. and Mrs. Karl G. Perry, Pleasant Valley Road; William A. Cook, Cash Valley Road; George B. Newman, president of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company; Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Kuykendall, LaVale; Jack D. Higgins, Coverwood, Dr. and Mrs. John G. Leech, Westernport, and Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Sanner, LaVale.

Geraldine Doolan, through Attorney Edward J. Ryan, has filed a $5,000 damage suit in Allegany County Circuit Court against Edward L. Clinebell, trading as Clinebell Cake Box, 33 North Centre Street.

The declaration contended that the Clinebell station wagon did not stop in time and struck the automobile. Mrs. Doolan contends that she sustained a whiplash injury to her cervical spine, was unable to operate her beauty shop for a time and her arthritis condition was aggravated.

Firemen Plan Annual Smoker At Clarysville

Bi-County Group Schedules Activities

The Clarysville Volunteer Fire Company will be host to the annual smoker of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association Saturday, April 23, at the Clary Club.

Plans were discussed yesterday afternoon during a meeting of the association at the Baltimore Pike fire hall.

Dinner will be served from 5 to 8 p. m. A floor show will follow. Invitations are being sent out to state and county officials.

Among those invited are Gov. J. Millard Tawes, officers and committee chairmen of the Maryland State Firemen's Association; state senators and members of the House of Delegates; and county commissioners from Allegany and Garrett counties.

Awards To Be Given

The Independent Insurance Agents Association of the two counties has decided to present heroism awards to members of the volunteer companies who warrant an award. Henry Wintermyer, of LaVale, is chairman of the committee.

The March 14 meeting of the officers training class at Barton will center on fire prevention. The class, from 7 to 10 p. m., is sponsored by the Fire Service Extension of the University of Maryland.

A tentative date of May 21-22 has been set for an Extension Fire School at Frostburg. The volunteers of that community have obtained an empty dwelling which will be burned in connection with the school.

Changes in by-laws for next year must be submitted during the April meeting of the association held Sunday, April 3, at Kitzmiller.

The association voted to give $125 in parade prize money to member companies participating in the parade held in conjunction with the annual convention June 9 at Deer Park.

Circus Planned

During the last week in May, the association will sponsor a circus at Corriganville, McCoole, Frostburg and McHenry.

The association decided to contact the State Roads Commission and ask that in the future, snow not be plowed into the entrance of a fire hall. Barton volunteers said that on two occasions they had to "dig out" after the plows went by.

A memorial service was held yesterday for firemen who died during the past month, including those from Barton, Kitzmiller, Lonaconing and Mt. Savage.

Twenty-four of the 31 member companies were present. Ten past presidents attended the meeting. A ham supper was served by the auxiliary unit of the Baltimore Pike Fire Company.

His studies will include all-weather fighter interceptor, electronic counter measures, reconnaissance bombardment and added aeronautical skills. Upon completion of this training, he will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force.

Shobe is a graduate of Keyser High School and also attended Potomac State College. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Shobe, also of Keyser.

Non-Members May Buy Tickets To Concert

At a meeting of the Tri-State Community Concert Association directors yesterday at the Clarysville Inn, it was decided to sell tickets tomorrow evening at the Fort Hill auditorium box office to non-members of the association who sign membership cards for next season.

Alec Templeton, the world-famous blind pianist and composer, will give one of his inimitable recitals as the final program on the 1959-1960 series of music events.

Not only is Templeton a superb musician but he has been called the greatest living master of improvisation, and his vivid personality and good humor make him a favorite with audiences all over the world.

So many requests have been received for admission to the Alec Templeton concert that the concert association directors decided to sell tickets to the public generally for this one attraction, provided area residents sign applications for 1960-1961 membership in the Tri-State Community organization.

Tomorrow night's recital is scheduled for 8:15 p. m. The box office will be open an hour earlier.

Interest Rates Got Much Of Legislature's Attention

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles reviewing activities of the 1960 Maryland General Assembly.

By LOUIS G. PANOS

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The money you pay as interest on loans and instalment purchases was one of the most extensively discussed subjects in the Maryland Legislature this year.

But it was also one of the most sensitive subjects, and after considering seven major bills dealing with it the lawmakers decided to take no action.

Instead, they agreed to let the Legislative Council, their between-sessions study unit, take a long look at the problem and return with recommended legislation next year.

Five of the bills could have meant higher interest rates for borrowers.

One of these, introduced by Del. Harry McGuirk (D-Balto 6th), would have increased the state's legal interest rate from six to eight per cent—if both parties in the loan or sale transaction agreed.

McGuirk's bill was dropped into the hopper one day before the Feb. 25 deadline but it failed to get out of the Ways and Means Committee.

Two Other Bills

Two other measures would not have reduced the legal interest rates, but they were designed to give borrowers a better idea of how much their loans or instalment purchases were actually costing.

One of these—introduced by Del. Margaret C. Schweinhaut (D-Montgomery) and Francis X. Gallagher (D-Balto 3rd)—produced one of the rarest scenes of the Legislature.

The bill, patterned after one being championed by U. S. Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) and similar to one later introduced in Annapolis by Del. Charles McC. Mathias (R-Frederick), would have required the lender to give advance notice in writing of all interest, finance charges, discount charges or other fees. He also would have had to declare what percentage of the total cost of the transaction they represented.

Held Up For Study

But after the measure reached the House floor, its sponsor asked that it be held up until next year for further study.

Another unusual development stemmed from a bill which opponents said would have increased the cost of a 12-month, $1,000 loan by 62.5 per cent.

The bill had the backing of House Speaker Perry O. Wilkinson (D-Prince Georges), Majority Leader A. Gordon Boone (D-Balto County), Speaker Pro-tem Jerome Robinson (D-Balto 4th) and Judiciary Committee Chairman Riddle P. Melvin Jr. (D-Anne Arundel).

Del. Carlton Sickles (D-Prince Georges) and Charles H. Smelser (D-Frederick) led the fight against the measure and it failed by an 82-27 margin.

Usury Exemptions Fail

Also defeated were bills to exempt from the usury laws any mortgage loans approved by the Federal Housing Administration, to provide similar exemptions for charges allowed by the federal government, and to increase from $300 to $500 the limit of loans covered by the small loans act.

While the individual borrower will be unaffected by any legislation considered this year, the state itself probably will wind up paying more for the money it borrows.

Because of the relatively tight money market and resultant increases in interest rates throughout the nation, it is difficult to market state construction bonds under the present 3½ per cent interest ceiling on such bonds. So the lawmakers voted to raise this to 4 per cent.

Emmanuel Plans Lenten Service

Rev. David C. Streett III, assistant to the rector at the Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd in Ruxton, will be the guest preacher at a Lenten service at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

Rev. Mr. Streett formerly served as vicar of Holy Cross and St. Philip's churches here. This is the first in a series of Thursday night worship services during Lent.

County Library Cost Would Be 53c Per Person

Maryland Figures Are Compared

The $48,000 which the Allegany County Library Committee is seeking in county funds for the operation of the proposed county-wide library system amounts to about 53 cents for each resident of the county.

Figures compiled from the Maryland Libraries publication for 1958-59, show that seven of the now existing county libraries receive more than 53 cents for each resident of the county.

The state high is Montgomery County, where the library's county support amounts to $1.90 per person. Others above the proposal for Allegany County, according to Mrs. William A. Cook, secretary of the county library committee here, include Washington County, 99 cents, including county and city appropriations; Prince George's County, 89 cents; Talbot County, 80 cents plus a large United Fund contribution; Queen Anne's County, 68 cents; Baltimore County, 63 cents; and Wicomico County, 58 cents.

Same As Cecil County

Cecil County gets 53 cents, exactly what Allegany County is requesting from the county commissioners in the year starting July 1.

Counties getting less than 53 cents per person for county library support include Garrett County, 51 cents; Charles County, 48 cents; Howard County, 47 cents; Harford, St. Mary's and Carroll counties, 44 cents each; Anne Arundel, 40 cents, and Calvert County, 35 cents. Worcester County has just established the 17th county library among Maryland's 23 counties but the amount of its county support was not available.

Residents of Baltimore City provide an average of $2 per person for the Enoch Pratt Library, recognized as one of the finest libraries in the United States.

Since the county library committee reorganized early in January in an effort to get the county commissioners to provide for the establishment of a county library in their 1960-61 budget, some 91 letters and petitions have been received by the county commissioners and all but three of them have been in favor of the proposal. Some of the communications had as many as 53 signers.

Backed By Groups

Among organizations which have endorsed the proposal are the Oldtown School PTA, Central Elementary PTA of Lonaconing, Xi Alpha Lambda sorority of Luke, with nine signers; Washington Camp No. 86, Patriotic Order, Sons of America, Ellerslie; Mt. Savage Homemakers Club, St. Michael's PTA, Frostburg; Allegany County Youth Commission; LaVale Century Club and Bedford Road Optimist Club, Cresap Homemakers Club of Cresap and McCoole PTA.

Individuals not previously listed who have written letters endorsing the county library proposal include Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Douglas, 1607 Holland Street; Mrs. William A. Douglas, 675 National Highway, LaVale; Mr. and Mrs. Karl G. Perry, Pleasant Valley Road; William A. Cook, Cass Valley Road; George B. Newman, president of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company; Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Kuykendall, LaVale; Jack D. Higgins, Coverwood, Dr. and Mrs. John G. Leech, Westernport, and Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Sanner, LaVale.

Fred Warner Jr., RFD 5, sent a letter in which he commended the commissioners for not taking hasty action on this decision. He did not specifically say whether he was for or against the proposal.

The overall operating budget for the proposed library of $66,500, includes $14,500 in state funds and $4,000 from the federal government. The other $16,000 to be received from the Federal government this year only would be used for capital improvements. Some $8,000 would be spent for a bookmobile to serve the entire county, $4,500 for additional books and $3,500 for equipment in the Cumberland branch, the central agency.
